

CHEVROLET RETIRED AFTER 50,000 MILES AT PROVING-GROUND

A romance of the General Motors Proving Ground at Milford Mich., comes to light today with the announcement that Chevrolet test car number 112 has been retired from the Proving Ground service after withstanding the withering strain of 46,150 miles in four and one-half months over various types of roads and a wide range of driving conditions.

Number 112 had a standard light delivery panel body on the standard commercial car chassis and had been taken out of regular production at the Flint plant. When, in the course of the usual routine, it was replaced at the Proving Ground by another Chevrolet, it still had in it many miles of unused transportation, engineers declared, despite the grueling experience of so many miles of terrific test driving.

It was kept on test for 136 days, "working" on an average of 341.8 miles a day. There were more than 500 miles in order to try its stamina. In addition to the test work at the Proving Ground, the car carried mail to Detroit and return each day, permitting of a study and check of the car under actual road traffic conditions. Engineers and technical men who drove and checked the car at the Proving Ground had in mind the many difficulties an automobile has to contend with in its lifetime. They thought of the driver who speeds his car over rough, rutted roads; they considered the motorist who rides his clutch; they had in mind the man who habitually tramps on his brakes, another who races a cold motor, another who asks his car to pull out of a mud hole in high, and so on.

Chevrolet cars are sold in Farmington by the Farmington Motor Sales.

TRAVEL

Travel, in the past, was a luxury which only the very rich could afford. The majority of men and women were born, lived and died in the same place. They inhabited a universe ten miles wide; beyond its borders lay the unknown. Today even the poor can take small journeys; the moderately prosperous are familiar with whole continents. The mind is nourished by its impressions from without; to enlarge one's physical world is to enrich one's mind. Machinery, in the form of transport, is providing for larger numbers of human beings and ever large numbers of human beings are a form of liberal education.—Aldous Huxley in the August Harpers.

CARE AT CROSSINGS

Large increases in automobile accidents at railroad crossings are shown in a summary of reports of all large railroad lines. Such mishaps last year numbered well over 3,000 and fatalities totaled 1292 compared with 1154 the year previous. This compilation did not include the short line or interurban, so that the sacrifice of life to carelessness was really much larger than these figures indicate.

Many drivers of automobiles make the mistake of depending upon the crossing flagmen. They forget that watchmen are only human and are subject to all the human weaknesses. An inspection of the Long Island railroad in New York recently disclosed eighteen grade crossings watchmen asleep, out of eighty-five crossings visited during the inspection.

Not a New Rug—Just Renewed an Easy Way

"Yes, it's the same old rug you have seen so many times before. But I have learned an easy way to keep things looking just like new. For a few cents I get a jar of Solvite dry cleaning soap that saves me at least five dollars."

Everything that would be harmed by ordinary soap and water can be made to look like new by dry cleaning with Solvite; the marvelous new dry cleaning soap, dissolved in gasoline. Suits, coats, dresses, rugs, gloves, furs, draperies and many other things come out bright and new looking. Nothing ever fades, shrinks, or wrinkles. Get Solvite for a few cents at any drug store—save five to ten dollars through its use.

OAKLAND CAR PIONEERS WITH NUMEROUS NEW MECHANICAL FEATURES

An entirely new motor car which really is not new at all—this is the paradox presented by the new Oakland All-American Six, in which the American public is finding so much of interest today. For while the All-American Six is new to the public, both in point of engineering advances and in the brilliant performance to which they contribute, it is old in point of service. Having undergone hundreds of thousands of test miles at the General Motors Proving Ground, Oakland engineers know its capabilities thoroughly, long before it was publicly announced.
