BOY LEARNS WISDOM
OF ADVICE GIVEN BY
MEN ON ROLLING-PINS

One boy got an early insight into manhood's cares at the Gala Day celebration in Farmington Monday. He was one of hundreds of interested spectators at the rolling-pin throwing contest for ladies.

As with nearly everyone in the crowd, the lad disregarded all warnings to "stand back," and was rewarded by being struck in the head by a "pin" hurled by one of the eager contestants. No serious injury resulted, but he went home a sadder, wiser boy, to grow up perhaps, into a sadder, wiser man than most of his neighbors.
