SHEAR ART: Puppet strings of the Detroit Institute of Arts Youtheatre will soon be cut if funds are not raised to keep this performing arts program running.

Classic performances of "Heldi," "Hansel and Gretel" and "Sleeping Beauty" are scheduled for the winter and spring season, along with fun and educational productions of "Amelia Bedelia," "Columbus" and "Dinosaurus." Youtheatre plays, musicals and puppets have enriched our children's world, providing a wonderful introduction to the performing arts. The program desperately needs our support.

To help raise funds for Youtheatre, Metro Salon owner John Paul in Farmington Hills, along with "we throw a great party" Tom and Diane Schoenheit will present "Faux, Fash and Flash" at 6 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 27, at the Roosterbar in Detroit. Donation of $35 provides an evening of men's and women's fashions, exciting new hair trends, delicious viands, music and entertainment, and a "believe it or not auction."

The impressive list of Detroit's male celebrities strutting the runway includes Pete Waldemer, Mike Lewis, Chuck Santoni, Michael J. Fox, Dave Fogel, Mark "Doc" Andrews, Jim Bannan, sports figures, and legal eagle Henry Baskin. The latest update on Baskin's carjacked BMW at Kaskas's in West Bloomfield is that Baskin received an anonymous phone call several days after the event, telling him the car was parked near Eight Mile and Greenfield roads, and was in pretty good shape.

Shining stars at Manoel's that infamous eve included Baskin's buddy Joe Glover of Channel 2 and Channel 50 newscaster Cynthia Carty and Julia Jackson.

"The Youtheatre has not had a fundraiser in 30 years," reported West Bloomfield Marilyn Fessler of the Connection Group. The event coordinator also noted that Detroit Youtheatre is the largest theater of its kind in North America.

Committee members included West Bloomfield Brenda Rosenberg and Marilyn Schiavo, guest host Don Shane of West Bloomfield, Denise Illich-Lites, Allan Lichtenstein, Cara Kaskasowski of Orchard Lake, Leland Piccus, Sue Marx, Irving and Doris Barton, Charlotte Rosenthal, Rosemary Bannan and Milane Davidson.

Tickets are only $35 for this new event and are available by calling 737-8060.

SYMPHONY SHOWPLACE: Featured at Symphony Showplace '91, through Sunday at the River Place Apartments in downtown Detroit, is local designer Thomas Maksout of Anna Kenedi Design, Inc., Southfield; P.K. Fields of P.K. Fields Interiors, Farmington; Bonnie Meyer of Meyer Interiors, West Bloomfield; and Thomas Grabowski and Brian Clay Collins of Hudson's Studio of Interiors, Southfield.

A total of nine River Place brownstones display the talents of 21 American Society of Interior Designers and more than 20 design students from the Lawrence Technological University in Southfield.

Besides the tours of exquisitely decorated apartments, special events include cooking demonstrations; art exhibits; the Strohstein collection; seminars on recycling furniture, kitchen and bath remodeling; and coordinating holiday parties, and a display of 1992 Chevrolet Corvette, Caprice, Blazer, Lumina, Camaro, 4x4 pick up, Lumina APV van, GEO Metro, GEO Prizm and GEO Tracker.

A fall color cruise with gourmet box lunch aboard the Detroit 2:30-4 p.m. is available today through Saturday. Also to raise funds for Detroit Symphony Orchestra Hall is a stay at the River Place Inn, with champagne upon arrival; elegant accommodations with sitting area and large marble bath; complimentary valet parking; dinner in River Room or Rattlesnake Club ($50) chauffeur service to/from Orchestra Hall; premiere seating for DSOH performance; full breakfast; guest privileges at River Place Athletic and Croquet Club; and tour of designer town homes, for $300 per night.

Tickets are available by calling 962-1000. Tickets at the door are $15.

RISEING STARS: Jennifer Jordan and Courtney Kling, both of Farmington Hills, were recently chosen as regional finalists for the National Look of the Year. They flew to New York to compete in the International Final and have been guaranteed modeling contracts with Elite Models in New York.

Jordan, a 19-year-old graduate of Harrison High School, has practiced the runways of Paris and Milan. She will complete her education through correspondence courses at the University of Wisconsin. Jordan teaches at Plymouth's John Casablancas modeling school. She recently was seen in the Observer & Eccentric Fall Fashion Supplement.

Kling is a junior at North Farmington High School and has been dancing for 19 years. She is presently enrolled in the acting program at John Casablancas in Plymouth and is a cheerleader at North Farmington.

VERY BEST CHOCOLATE PARTY: The second annual "Very Best Chocolate Party" sponsored by the Wellness Networks will be held 2-5 p.m. Sunday at the Southfield Sheraton.
