Rise and fall of Russian Empire

By Dan Rice

Thanks to gremlins in the Kremlin, the superpower that was the Soviet Union seems to be crumbling, to the dismay of no one but American defense contractors. When Red Empire first aired on English TV in 1989 it was hailed as "the definitive history of Russia." Now updated, this documentary uses eyewitness accounts to trace the history of the world's largest nation from the fall of Czar Nicholas II to the failed coup d'etat against Gorbachev, and its aftermath. Part of Time Machine With Jack Perkins, the seven-part series begins Friday, Dec. 13, on A&E.

Hark, the heralded angel sings. Celebrated opera singer Jessye Norman performs a special recital from the Cathedral of Notre Dame de Paris on A&E Stage, premiering Tuesday, Dec. 10. In Jessye Norman at Notre Dame, the diva offers an eclectic selection of sacred music, spirituals and Christmas carols.
