Mac finds overseas hoop different

John McIntyre felt safe and welcomed everywhere he wen in Halia, Iszael, except on the basketball court.
Whether he was being double-teamed by an opposing, defense or hiding from a bunch of ilghthappy fans, McIntyre always found himself on the run. Fighting in the stands among fans was a common occurrence and one game the fans went so far as to attack the referees on the court.
The unruly behavior caused the last three Halia games to be played 20 minutes outside of town on a court without fans watching. So McIntyre's best season in two years as a professional basketball player also was his weirdest.
"We had to stop games lots of times because of fights," said McIntyre, a 1985 Redford Catholic Central graduate. "The crowds are small but they're licre. They are very fanalie and very supportive of their teams."
Because all tarsell men are required to serve at least three years in the military, some of McInyre's teammates came to practice from the base armed.

MeiNTYRE, THE only American playing for Halfa, was the league's leading scorer with 38 points per game. He scored 56 points in one game. It is another nor halfa deven triple doubles. Halfa played only 22 regular season games in the seven months Meintyre apent there, so life int's nearly, as grueling as that in the NBA or CBA, Halfa struggled with a 6-16 overall record, placing last in the Division II league.

McIntyre compared the level of play to "bad" Division I college basketball in the states. McIn-tyre's teammates ranged in age from 16 to 29 and he was liked on and off the court.

He carned $35,000 in tax-free money, had free rent in a two-bedroom apartment and carned several nicknames, including "Mr. John," and "Super Mac."

"It was great, because I got lirst crack at everything," McInityre said, "In college (at the University of Missouri) I was averaging seven shots a game my senior year and over here Pra getting 20 for sure. Halfa is a beautiful city. It looks a lot They'd come to practice with their M-16s and Uris, "Mentryre said with the Mediteranean in Israel and there's always bearing the Mediteranean in Israel and McINTYRE SAID he's considering playing for Winnipeg of the World Basketball League (torplayers 6-feel; 7 and under) over the summer and be anticipates signing a long-term contract with a Division I (eam in Venezuela, starting with the 1992-93 season.

1992-93 season.

McIntyre, who is represented by agent Guy Zucker, said the guaranteed contract could be worth as much as $200,000 over three years.

McIntyre, who was the last cut by the Pistons as a free agent prior to the 90-91 season, would like to return to the NBA someday with a guaranteed contract.

teed contract.

"I feel I'm good enough to play in the NBA but not good enough to beat out a guy with a guaranteed contract," McIntyre saild. "I don't want to keep trying out as a free agent."

807 series impressive feat

WAS ABLE to watch a brilliant performance by Charlle Stai-ley of the Wednesday Night Trio Lengue at Town and Country Lancs in Westland. This lefty from Livonia registered an 807 series with a line of 279-289-239.

At one point Charlie strung to-gether 19 strikes in a row, each a solid shoi in the one-two pocket. In the first game, Stalley Jinished with nine strikes in a row and start-ed the second game with 10 in a row. What an effort.
