DETROIT
Six programs have been scheduled by the University of Detroit for its second annual summer school for the performing arts. The six will cover ballet, mime, acting, lighting, makeup and costumes and scenic designs.

Brochures and class schedules are available by writing to The Performing Arts Center, University of Detroit, 4901 W. McNichols Rd., Detroit 48221.

THREE GUEST ARTISTS will be in residence to conduct workshops in mime, ballet and acting. There will also be programs for the high school and community theatre director and the high school theatre technician.

Goeffrey Buckley, noted British mime artist, will instruct two workshops in mime July 12 to 30.

Jon Rodriguez, associate director and choreographer of the Dayton Ballet Company, will teach four ballet classes, beginning through advanced, and an evening workshop in technique and repertoire, during his residency July 12 through 23.

David Regal, a local actor and director, will teach a six-week high school workshop entitled "The Art of the Actor," June 28 through Aug. 6. He will teach new acting styles, ranging from street theatre techniques to Grotowski. Improvisation. The course is open only to high school juniors and seniors who plan to major in theatre.

COSTUMING AND MAKEUP for high school and community theatre will be taught by Nancy Missini, costumiere for the U-D Theatre. The workshop will meet daily July 5 through 23. It may be taken for graduate or undergraduate college credit.

The summer school will also host five visiting artists of the Royal Winnipeg Ballet, who will conduct master classes during the week of Aug. 9.
