

Seminar taps human potential

Schoolcraft College is presenting a three-day Human Potential Seminar (HPS) Training and Experiential Workshop, "Teaching New Heights: A Positive Approach to Self-Development," Thursday, May 14, 4-9 p.m., Friday, May 15, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., and Saturday, May 16, 9 a.m. to noon.

Founded on the assumption that every person is a gifted person, HPS goals aim to increase self-affirmation, self-determination, self-motivation, and empathetic regard for others. The completion of these goals can result in a self-actualized person. HPS is used in a variety of settings, including: schools, colleges, businesses, rehabilitation centers, religious organizations, substance abuse centers, etc. HPS focuses on a person's strengths, values, and satisfactions, and goals rather than on their weaknesses. Research supports that HPS is effective.

Topics to be presented include: personal unfoldment, empathetic recall, personal goal-setting, self-efficacy, achievements and Success, motivation and needs, value clarification, strength acknowledgment, and long range and life goal-setting.

Participants are eligible for leadership certification in the Human Potential process. Certification is granted by the Center for Human Potential Seminars and Services, Evanston, Ill., James McMillan, Director.

In addition, counselors will receive 18-20 hours towards Michigan counselor or NBCC certification. Professionals who complete this workshop are eligible to participate in the Advanced Human Potential Seminar which focuses on successful prevention of conflict, identifying and releasing locked potential, working through failure successfully, and life style planning.
