

Riding the ponies: Mark Kohn of West Bloomfield takes a spin on the merry-go-round with 14-month-old daughter Melanie at the St. Mary's fair.

No fair weather for Polish Fair

By PALMER

Thousands of hardy souls braved the hot sun and cool temperatures at the Polish Country Fair in West Bloomfield over the weekend. The fair was excellent, but Saturday's rain "put a damper on the fun," said Kohn, who spoke with his daughter Melanie at the fair. The fair was held at the St. Mary's College and was a success for the organizers. The fair was held at the St. Mary's College and was a success for the organizers.

Both students at Roper School in Birmingham, said they enjoyed the rides, "particularly the Ferris wheel." Tom Parker, an Oakland County Sheriff's deputy who spoke about security at the fair, said he and others part of the good turnout to the two-day sports and show, a welcome sight. "I was really amazed at the turnout to St. Mary's and the fair," he said, referring to two former dates with the Detroit and White, who signed autographs at the fair for $2 each.

"People still remember them, but though their holiday was in the 1950s," said Parker. "People were constantly lined up to get their autographs."

Tom and his wife, Linda, have three sons in the Catholic schools. The oldest is Luke, who graduated in 1991 and now attends the University of Pennsylvania. Neil and Michael are currently students in the 11th and 6th grades, respectively.

Bill Jablonski of West Bloomfield said his, her husband, Gary, and their two children, Brian, 8, and Craig, 5, have attended the Polish fair for four consecutive years. "We weren't going to miss this year because of a little bit of weather."

"We were here Saturday, but because of heavy rain, we went home. But we're back today and having a good time."

Another person who had a good time is Dustin Reynolds, a student at Green Elementary School in West Bloomfield. Dustin, 10, enjoyed demonstrating his skill on "Water Works," a midway game in which, would be sharpshooters squirted water from a gun, resembling a machine gun.

"We were here Saturday, but because of heavy rain, we went home. But we're back today and having a good time."
