Endorse Tax

will continue under State Supreme Court order.
"Teacher salaries have risen, substantially and competitively. State aid has been drastically reduced because of declining tax collections resulting from the General Motors strike."

"The 4.5 mill increase is not for new programs but is vitally necessary just to maintain the present quality educational standards."

"The proposal is for four years within which time, hopefully, the state will have enacted a genuine tax reform giving relief to property owners."

"The CAC reminds residents of a statement made recently by Gov. William Milliken: 'Local school districts must continue to rely upon the property tax for one more year.'"

"I urge voters to bear this in mind when they are called upon by their local districts to support millage requests for school operations in the 1971-72 school year."

In a prepared statement, the CAC finance committee chaired by Richard Frankel said if approval of the millage is not given, it will be mandatory for the board to make program and service reductions equal to the revenue ($14.4 million) which the millage will bring.

The school board has identified the following programs and services which will be reduced or deleted if the millage fails:

Elimination of all interscholastic athletics, $70,000; reduction of all extra curricular music activities, $9,000; 50 per cent reduction of elementary art and music, $135,000; and reduction of administrative and supervisory services, $70,000; Transportation for those 144 miles from school, $55,000; reduction of secondary school counseling services, $41,000; elimination of elementary counseling program, $26,000; and reduction of library services, $37,000.

Also: reduction of faculty by 49 teachers, $588,000; reduction of teaching, maintenance services and supplies, $300,000; capital fund replacements and improvements, $50,000; and, reduce miscellaneous supplies and services, $61,800.

"The reinstatement of any of these items will be possible only as an increase in revenue is available or a decrease in the cost of operation can be established," the CAC concludes.

Dr. Roderick J. Smith, superintendent of schools, stresses that the 4.5 mills is needed to provide the same educational program now being offered.

The proposed cuts are not meant to be used as a threat, he adds. "The Board of Education has the responsibility of providing the best education possible with the money available."

"The board felt that it would be unfair to the taxpayers not to let them know what kind of an educational program can be provided without the additional revenue. This is their responsibility to the taxpayers."

Dunkel Having Pops Concert

FARMINGTON

A "pops concert" featuring many soloists and light music with popular appeal will be presented Saturday, June 5, at 7:30 p.m. by the instrumental music department in Dunkel Junior High.

The concert will be the final performance of the Dunkel bands for the current school year. Admission at the door will be a donation of 50 cents for students and 75 cents for adults.

THE CADET BAND will perform "We've Only Just Begun" and "Petrology," a study of rock.

The Varsity Band will play highlights from "The Music Man" and a medley from the American love-rock musical "Hair," including "Aquarius" and "Let the Sunshine In."

The Concert Band will accompany featured soloists Miss Cindy Leistikow, concertmistress, performing "Concerto for Clarinet." The band will also accompany Francesco DiBlasi, a Livonia professional trumpeter, as he performs "The Bugler" by Goldman.

LARRY DETTER, Dunkel band director, will be featured in a percussion solo entitled "Kit and Kaboodle."

A xylophone trio consisting of Dieter and two of his private students, Ken Notestine of Harrison High and Marjorie Prisk of Clarendeale, will perform "Picket Fence."

A student organized Dixieland Band will entertain with "I'm Comin' Virginia" and "When the Saints Come Marching In." Steve Bucci, a seventh grade bandsman, will be featured performing on the Hammond organ.

The Concert Band will open the concert with the theme from "2001 Space Odyssey" and conclude with a contemporary folk rock selection entitled "Alla Barroco."
