

Eskimo art to be highlighted at Power Center

A preview reception will open the 1992 annual print collection exhibit of Cape Dorset prints at the Power Center for the Performing Arts, Ann Arbor.

The preview, in the Power Center lobby, will be 4:30-6:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 23. Anne Charles, Canadian consul general in Detroit, and Eugene Power, Gallery of Eskimo Art, Inc. founder and president, will co-host the event. The Trio from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police Band will provide entertainment.

This year's collection of 33 prints represents the works of 11 Inuit graphic artists from the Cape Dorset community on Baffin Island, Northwest Territories.

"This is the 11th year we have presented the collection of Cape Dorset prints," said Power, board president of the Ann Arbor-based Gallery of Eskimo Art, Inc. "And we are pleased, this year, to welcome our friends to a special Canadian-American preview reception."

"Eugene Power's foresight and appreciation of a unique art form has contributed to the development and worldwide recognition of the heritage of our Inuit communities," Charles said.

"I congratulate Eskimo Art, Inc. and the entire Ann Arbor community for their continuing support of Canadian Inuit artists and we are proud to be a part of this celebration."

This year's exhibit is dedicated to the memory of:

■ Margaret Harwick, who founded Eskimo Art, Inc. with Eugene Power in 1953. She served as secretary/treasurer until 1990 and was a trustee until her death earlier this year.

■ Osoochiak Pudlat, who was born in 1908 and only began drawing in 1980. In addition to a solo exhibition of original works in Toronto in 1982, his work has been included in several annual Cape Dorset graphic collections, both stonecut and lithographs. He died earlier this spring.

■ Tikitu Qinnuayuk, who was born in 1908 and was represented in the 1990 Cape Dorset annual graphics collection for the first time in years. He contributed six images to the 1991 collection. His 1992 print, "My Mother's Reflections" will be the last print by Tikitu to be released as part of the annual Cape Dorset collection. His late wife was graphic artist Lucy Qinnuayuk. Tikitu died this past January.

Slides and catalogs of the 1992 collection are available at the Gallery of Eskimo Art in Exhibition Hall at Domino's Farms, Arbor. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, and by appointment (call 313-665-9663).

Our Town exhibit, events continue

No matter the weather, the Our Town Art Exhibition and Sale is always in season.

And this year's seventh annual event takes place this week, with a variety of media and festivities, at The Community House, 380 S. Bates in Birmingham. Reservations are required for special events. Call Chris Nightingale at 644-5832.

Among the events are a luncheon with keynote speaker Linda Solomon, a celebrity photographer, noon Thursday. Tickets are $25. An Evening of Art and Jazz will take place 6-10 p.m. Friday. Children's workshops, at $5 per student per workshop, are scheduled for Saturday. The workshops are Creating "Kid People," ages 4-5, 9-10 a.m.; Tie Dye Shirts, ages 6-8, 10:30-11:30 a.m.; Sock Puppets, ages 6-8, 1-2 p.m.; and Tie Dye Shirts, ages 9-10, 2:30-3:30 p.m. An award ceremony will take place 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

Admission is free to the art show, which features 350 pieces of art in a wide range of media by 248 Michigan artists. Sculptor Glen Michaels of Troy juried the show. Call Leslie Drolet at 644-5832 for more information.

'Well Street': This work by Marilyn Blinder of Southfield is one of the pieces featured in the Our Town Art Exhibition and Sale this week in Birmingham.

'Dance Into Spring': Michael Evangelista of Farmington Hills painted this scene. Our Town will feature special events as well as the exhibition.
