THE BRIDGE CROWD

WOODY BOYD

Audrey Melander's four-spade contract that Ira Rubin classed as one of the best he had ever seen, and today's presentation which required an exceptional bit of wizardry.

Classic hands are fun to commemorate, but the declarer who successfully solves such devilish pastboard problems is the genuine celebrity. Today's hand by Joyce Krout of Southfield, who many consider to be "the first lady" of our suburban duplicate game, is a masterpiece. For years, she has been directing the many weekly games at the Southfield Civic Center, and that alone is demanding. Add to that her current presidency of the Southeastern Michigan Bridge Association. Yet she still finds time to show dogs all over the world with her wonderful husband.

have finished in the money. Today's exhibition is from that contest. You can see I was the heathen, placing her in a most uncertain contract. Moysean fits are certainly not the easiest everyday fare. Witness with wonder her marvelous artistry on this one.

Typical of my partner's well-calculated aggressiveness, she responded to my one diamond call with a very modest high card holding, but with E/W passing she was sure I had a good hand. This was confirmed by my next call, but she also had every right to assume that I had raised hearts with four.

When the dummy came into play, she didn't show a smidgen of pique, even though I knew there was a modicum of chagrin. Immediately Joyce recognized that trumps had to behave or the contract was in jeopardy. She won the diamond in her hand and played a small heart to the ten, knowing full well that a diamond ruff would follow east's assumed trick two win. At trick four, east got out with a small spade won in dummy. Now a heart to her queen and a club toward dummy, winning east queen with the ace. At trick 7, she made the exceptionally fine play of the club jack, smothering east's king, and dummy's trump ace won. At trick nine, dummy's good club nine ruffed by east and over ruffed by Joyce. She then played her last trump and won the last three high diamonds in dummy.

Not only was this a marvelous example of declarer execution, her effort won an absolute top. Those in game went down in 3 no trump and five diamonds, but most never got above the 3 or 4 diamond level.

SOMBA November Sectional, Mercy Center, Farmington Hills, Nov. 12-15, full schedule of playing events.

Can You Find The Drug Pusher In This Picture?

We all know what drug pushers look like. We've seen them often enough on television. But the frightening thing is, a kid is more likely to be pushed into drugs by some innocent-looking classmate.

Studies show that kids are eight times more likely to use drugs if their friends use drugs. As a parent, how do you beat odds like that?

First realize that your preteen children are at risk. Then, find out everything you can about drug abuse. Next, talk to your kids. Let them know how you feel about drugs. Find out how they feel. Then, and this is very important, get to know your kids' friends—and their parents.

In other words, if you're in the picture, chances are the pusher won't be.
