SOME THINGS THE BUSY WORKER IS DOING FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF CIVILIZATION

NOT EASY TO JUDGE

CHARACTER READING SOME-THING THAT HAS BEEN OVER-ESTIMATED.

THINGS TO BE WEIGHED

"Intuitive Perception" Not a Good Guide—Acquaintance Only Can Determine Whether or Not a Man Is to Be Trusted.

Without doubt the art of character reading is overestimated. The popular notion is that it is possible to estimate a person upon first meeting or very slight acquaintance as to moral worth. That the general efficiency of the stranger can be quite accurately judged by some people. That ability is greatly to be desired, rarely possessed and is largely a gift of nature.

It would be difficult to substantiate any of these points scientifically. writes Emory J. Hayes in the Chicago Journal. The stranger is a stranger. A personality that we have become acquainted with is evidently no longer a stranger, and we judge him by what acquaintance has actually brought to light. Certainly there is nothing remarkable in that. In experience the fact is many do not take the care to judge character; a few exceptions are passed upon and we decide to like or dislike and let it go at that.

That there is such a thing as intuitive perception, an inexplicable "feeling" of attraction or repulsion, is not to be denied. But the element on which it founds itself is a little known. Not the beauty or ugliness of features, not the shape of the head, not the voice or any of the points that would be supposed are unknown to the efficient. It is a common experience to discover great worth and great un-worth contradicting these outward experiences.

"By their fruits ye shall know them" is the wisest of sayings. What a man does shows what he is, and there is no mistaking it. Grapes do not grow on thorns, nor figs on thistles, said the same authorities. The sooner a young person adopts this rule the safer and better.

It is necessary to weigh up the good qualities against the bad with sound judgment, to allow for the variety of tasks; to consider that though the man might not be to your mind for a companion, yet he might have excellent qualities for the factory or bank.

In other words, character reading is a business process. The artist uses Nor does character present a flimsy Human nature is like the waves of the sea. The very fiber of being seems mutable.

The trusted citizen of 40 years winks a wink the forty-first year Saul of Tarsus bent on murder; is converted to St. Paul the martyr in a moment. We are conscious of this strange mutability in ourselves, and stand aghast at the gulf between some half-hour and the inspired astralism of a good hour when we could die for a friend.

Like all things human the knowledge we may have of another person is only present knowledge. What is he today?

Let mercy cover his past and help brighten his present if today he seems to desire to do well and is doing well.
We may with him have a priceless assurance. The aged couple have it, a few friends have it. But to the very last we go through life forced to take measures as we find them day by day. There are no experts in character reading.

Only God knows the heart.

Good Done by Bill Weevil.
According to Governor Jared Y.
Sanders of Louisiana, the voice of the bill weevil upon whose head the state of the south has delighted to heap kissings in the past, has proved to be more efficacious in awakening Louisiana to her agricultural possibilities than all the colleges and official boards in the country. This was the way of it.

Louisiana imagined that it was doomed to raise nothing but cotton so long as the rich fields of the state were infested by man. Cotton had always been raised—it was the Louisiana crop and no one would have dreamed of raising anything else.
Then came the bill weevil. It destroyed the cotton grove and today the growers in despair turned to grain; corn and truck were produced in unheard-of abundance and today Louisiana is a full-fledged grain state and just one-fourth the amount of cotton that used to be raised before the destroyer appeared is produced in a year. The state has learned that it can do anything it tries that it can do all the year round. So much for the bill weevil.

Electricity on the Farm

NEW METHOD OF "FERTILIZING" POSSIBLE.

From Germany Comes Reports of Good Effects Secured by the Use of This Agency—Windmill Brings Cost to Minimum.

"Fertilizing the farm" by means of electricity has been tried in Germany with reported success, and in Brooklyn a former judge of the city's municipal court has introduced the electric wiring to his garden as the precursor of an amplified farm on a limited basis of land acreage.

Former Judge Thomas H. Williams, retiring from the bench, bought two acres of land near Northport, L. I., on which he put into practice some of the things he knew about growing vegetables and small fruits. Always this laid the wide awake man to attempt something in farming of which he has heard only—and Mr. Williams at the present time has a portion of his group indicated for a fall experience in growing late lettuce, onions, and like dishes, which really belong to spring.

The first unit of the equipment was a dynamo, and for producing power it was harnessed to a windmill. A storage battery was necessary, connecting with the generator. Posts were erected about 12 feet high, and the copper wires were strung not only diagonally but crosswise and in two formations just overhead. The current is at low voltage, and the tendency is for the current to leave the wires both at the poles and between them, finding its way down through the moist soil underlying the dry surface of the garden.

It is not explained just how and where the beneficial currents act as a forcing element in plant growth.
This has been the experience of German scientists, and Mr. Williams' experiment is based upon the results which were explained to him by two German gardeners supplying the earliest markets of Bremen.

Considerable cost attaches to the dynamo, storage battery and copper wiring of the garden, but with the windmill as a power Mr. Williams is looking in the end to comparatively cheap results. As after the first installation the upkeep promises to be small in proportion to the returns which are possible.

Largest Wooden Vessel.

There is a general idea that the wooden sailing ship is a thing of the past, but there recently landed at Woodthore for its maiden voyage a wooden vessel that far outranks any that ever cut to sea. This is a six-masted schooner called the Wyoming, and is a splendid ship in every particular.
With a gross register of 3,370 tons, or 22 tons more than the well-known steel-hull six-masted schooner William L. Douglas of Boston. The Wyoming is 225 feet 2 inches long, 50 feet 1 inch beam, and 30 feet 4 inches depth of hold. It has three decks, with five discharging hatches, and took as its first cargo 5,472 tons of soft coal for Boston.

The frame of the huge schooner is securely strapped with iron and its keelson is protected by big bands of sheet iron. Telegraph, steam pumps, steering gear, and the vessel's steam holsa, etc., are in every particular.
The vessel cost $190,000 to build.

Concrete for Dock Work.

Use of reinforced concrete in dock building has been stayed largely through the difficulty of building the waterfront piers and docks which are necessary for protecting the work. Ontario, Canada, a concrete has been made an innovation. First, the builders have been forming the hollow bases of the dock work at the water's edge, then they placed the concrete with stone, and sinking the concrete craft to the bottom.
Formerly in dock building it was custom to drive piling and bring the foundations through the water, giving a solid base upon the work, giving it solidity above the water line. With the concrete built butt on land and driven to the water top it appears above the water after sinking and the work of building it up with cement becomes easy.

The Size of It.

A friend grieves at the speed of the auto craze. He writes this column that he was talking to Mrs. New-meyer about her "lick bug" her husband was having built, and she asked how large it was going to be. "Seven passenger," replied the lady absently.

WANTED SATAN SENT NORTH

Good Example of Scottish Humor in Remark Made by Railroad Porter.

Scottish humor is dry rather than boisterous, and I always think there is a certain drollery in the story of the Blonhaven railway porter and the Salvation Army "captain." To catch the hang of a little yarn readers must remember that Blonhaven lies to the south of Aberdeen. The London train had drawn up at Blonhaven on account of a slight mishap a mile or two ahead, and Andra, the old porter, had got into conversation with a Salvation Army officer who had popped his head out of the compartment to ask the reason for the delay.

"Are you," mused Andra, after giving the desired information, "you'll be for Aberdeen, I'm thinking?"

"Yes, my man," was the reply;
"I'm bound for Aberdeen—a very wicked place, I'm told!"

"What might ye be goin' to do there, sir, if it's as bad as ye 'thart?"

asked Andra, rather amused at the visitor's words.

"Ah," was the pious answer, "I'm going to drive the devil out of Aberdeen."

Like lightning came from the old porter the pawky retort: "I'll be glad to see ye do that."

"See an' drive him north, eh? haud him well to the north!" Exchange.

Looking After the Eggs.

Lady Betty, who is four years old and never misses a trick, was taken her supper and with the importance and sprightly dignity of her years calmly ordered poached eggs on toast.
While the little family group was awaiting its service, the mother amused herself by looking out of the window, pressing against a screen to get a closer view of something below.
She was warned by her mother that the screen might give way, and she fell to the sidewalk, perhaps injuring her terribly. She drew away, thought a minute, and then said naively:
"Would I fall if the screen went out?"

"You certainly would," was the old mother's reply. "And would I get awful hurt?" "Very likely." "Then what would the man do with the eggs?"

CHANGED HIS MIND.

PUTS STOMACHS IN ORDER.

No indigestion, Gas, Sourness or Dyspepsia Five Minutes After Taking a Little Diapiesin.

There should not be a case of indigestion, dyspepsia, or gas/colic here if readers who are subject to Stomach trouble knew the tremendous anti-ferment and digestive virtue contained in Diapiesin. This harmless preparation will digest a heavy meal without the slightest fuss or discomfort, and relieve the sourdest, acid stomach in five minutes, besides overcoming all foul, nauseous odors from the breath.

If your stomach is sour and full of gas, or your food doesn't digest, and your meal don't seem to fit, why not get a 50-cent case of Papo's Diapiesin from any druggist here in town, and make life worth living. Absolute relief from Stomach misery and perfect digestion of anything you eat is sure to follow 240 minutes after; and he-sides, one fifty-cent case is sufficient to cure a whole family of such ills.

Soberly a "harmless, inexpensive preparation like Papo's Diapiesin, which will always either at daytime or during night, relieve your sick, sour, gassy, upset stomach and digest your meal, is about as handy and valuable a thing as you could have in the house.

Little Myra Explains.
"Little Myra Long had been in school but a few days when her mother had occasion to write a note to the teacher, and signed herself 'Mrs. Kent.' Thinking she might have misunderstood the child's name, the teacher asked an explanation."

"Oh," said Myra, with a charmingly confidential air, "you see, my mamma got married again, but I didn't."

Have You Tried?

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? We can furnish positive proof that it has made many remarkable cures after all other means had failed.

Women who are suffering with some form of female illness should consider this.

As such evidence read these two unsolicited testimonial letters. We guarantee they are genuine and honest statements of facts.

Cresson, Pa.—"Five years ago I had a bad fall, and hurt myself inwardly. I was under a doctor's care for nine weeks, and when I stopped I grew worse again. I sent for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, took it as directed, and now I am a stout, hearty woman."—Mrs. E. E. Alker, Cresson, Pa.

Baird, Wash.—"A year ago I was sick with kidney and bladder troubles and female weakness. The doctors gave me up. All they could do was to just let me go as easily as possible.
I was advised by friends to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier. I am completely cured of my ill, and I am nearly thirty years old."—Mrs. Sarah Leighton, Baird, Wash.

Evidence like the above is abundant showing that the derangements of the female organism which breed all kinds of miserable feelings and which ordi-ary practice does not cure, are the very disorders that give way to Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who are afflicted with similar troubles, after reading two such letters as the above, should be encouraged to try this wonderfully helpful remedy.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine.
Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has been guided by the following address:
