Washington's ability as a statesman, a diplomat, a general, and an executive is well known. But his success as a financier is worthy of great admiration, too.

On his twenty-first birthday he owned over 1,500 acres of Virginia soil that he had paid for himself from his savings as a surveyor. Upon his marriage he became the custodian of approximately $100,000.

Then came the Revolution. As general of the Continental troops and as our first President, he refused all compensation. Furthermore, he expended a large part of his private fortune to feed and clothe his needy troops.

In spite of his generosity he returned to private life at Mount Vernon in 1796 with sufficient funds to live comfortable. His secret was in being thrifty as a young man, and wise expenditure in later years. And think how much greater the facilities are for both now-a-days.

In respect to the memory of Washington this bank will not be open on his birthday, Wednesday, February twenty-second
