It But that see her."

"She lives in Moston. I believe, "repilied Aunt Minerva. "Her father failed and she teaches school, or something of that sort to help support
the family."

That evening, when Arthur called,
Julia, after a little preliminary verbul scouting, opened the action. "Do you know a young lady by the name of Rosa Townsend?" she asked.

"I used to know a young lady by that name," answered Arthur, show ing signs of surprise at the question.
"In fact know her now: but we have not met for two pears. Why do you

Working on the me located Miss Townsend in a tashloanble suburb of the season and drove there in a tashloanble suburb of the season and drove there in a tast. She was going to have an interview with hut young lady and find out tast how matters stood between her and Arthur Worden. The house to which she was taken was a fine one, standling in space of the season and the season and the seed in the season and that young lady spread and the season and that young lady spreads and the young lady spreads and the young you have Arthur Worden?"

Yes, Indeed," replied Rosa, "that to you. Do you know Arthur Worden?"

"Yes, Indeed," replied Ross, "that is, I used to know him. But I haven't seen him for two years, He is in New York, I believe."
"I will be frank, "said Julia. "Were you two ever—ever—in love?"
Hose broke into a laugh. "In some he cried. "What monsent importance in the cried. "What now have the heart in the heart of the whole matter. "What about," said Ross, after hearing the him.

"Been to Boston, I understand," said Arthur, when he called the evening after Jolla's return.
"See anybody I know?" he asked.
"Yes," said Julin, and then fessed to the end of her confession what could Arthur do? What did he want to do, but take her in his arms and ask her to be his wife?
And what did abe say? She said,
