Books in Abundance for the Royal Guest

When—many years ago—the duke of Edinburgh, son of Queen Victoria, visited Australia, he was taken to a celebrated merino sheep breeding district, related P. M. Dow, secretary to the commissioner for Australia in the United States. A certain wealthy landowner was selected as host for the royal visitor, who was to be his guest for one day and one night.

A few days before the duke's arrival the landowner inspected his mansion with a view to discovering a possible absence of some feature essential to a residence about to be honored by the presence of royalty. There were no books. Of course, there should be a library.

A rush order was dispatched to Mullen's in Melbourne to "forward urgently one ton of books." Mullen's responded promptly—perhaps with indecent haste—and the duke enjoyed his one night's hospitality in an Australian rural home in which a vast collection of books had been made available for the use of his royal highness. Truly, a gracious, thoughtful and literary act on the part of the Australian sheep herder.—Kansas City

No Possible Danger From That Cemetery

Eugene Field while on one of his lecturing tours entered Philadelphia.
There was some delay at the bridge over the Schuylkill river, and the humorist's attention was attracted by the turbid, coffee-colored stream flowing underneath. He asked the colored porter: "Don't you people get your drinking water from this stream?"

"Yassir! Ain't got no ruther place to get it from, 'cept the Delaware, Yassir!"

"I should think," said the humorist,
"that you would be afraid to drink such water; especially as the seepage from that cemetery I see on the hill must drain directly into the river and pollute it!"

"I reckon yo' all don't know Philadelphy ve'y well, sah, an' yo'd know dat's Laurel Hill cemetery!" said the son of Sam.

"Well, what of that?" asked Field.
"Dat watah don't bu't us Philadelphians none, sah," replied the native son. "W'y mos' all of de folkses buried theah aw fom o'ah ve'y best fam'ly!"

Shades of Color in Flag

The bureau of navigation says that the shades of the colors in the United States flag have never been defined by law. The fact that flags used earlier in our history are represented with a lighter blue than those in use now may be explained by the fact that the current dyes and bunting are of a better quality than formerly.
Formerly, the flag was manufactured for the government by a number of commercial firms. Since 1912 the United States army has been making its own flags, and the navy has been making its own flags for an even longer period, so that the dark blue used by the government has now standardized the shade of the blue.

ORCHARD LAKE POLICE CHIEF DENIES REPORT OF A 28-MILE LIMIT

The speed limit of 28 miles per hour through the village of Orchard Lake, reported last week is declared to be found to be incorrect by Chief of Police Clarence Carson of that village. He stated that any arrests he has made were for reckless driving and in each case the drivers were making better than fifty miles an hour.

Chief Carson says he is much opposed to a highly-restricted speed limit on the average motorist and that he believes a speed limit of 28 miles per hour would be "redigious." He did state and with emphasis that motorists who "run the light" and drive recklessly around the curves and pass other cars on the hills within the village will be arrested if he sees them doing it, if he has "to chase them to their own garage doors to do it."

DEPUTIES MAKE RAIDS NEAR WALLED LAKE; ONE DRUNK DRIVER NABBED

Two raids were made near Walled Lake by W. E. Coe and other deputies this week.
One hundred pints of beer were reported taken at the home of George Megivern on the Pontiac road, and Megivern arrested.
Howard Lidde of Pontiac was arrested Saturday for driving while drunk. He was sentenced to 90 days and his operator's license revoked for one year.
George Haywood, arrested after driving his car into a telephone pole, was paroled to Deputy Sheriff W. E. Coe for 30 days.
