DID YOU EVERSTOP TO THINK?

That people should know more about the community in which they live.

That if they knew more about it there would be more boosters and less knockers.

That many citizens should look around and learn some facts.

That if they did they would be agreeably surprised.

That they would find out many things they never knew before.

That it would make them have pride in the home city.

That it would make them get busy and dress up their places of business and their homes.

That they would make their city more attractive.

Making the home city more attractive would attract more business to the city. It would also attract many visitors who would stay long and then come back again.—Edson R. Waite.

ENJOY IT WHILE YOU MAY

Some people take politics too seriously. Take an interest but be not too keen. Politics is an American institution. The fact that many people may not like the candidates for which you stand is no reflection upon you.

Political discussion is always interesting but it need not be too personal. One of the greatest privileges of the nation is that any citizen may hold to views with discrimination. In most nations that privilege does not exist.

Make the most out of political season. Get what information, inspiration and pleasure out of it you can. It will be four years before another national campaign rolls around—four good, long cold winters without so much to talk about.—Exchange.

Looks and Acts like a Costly Car because it's built like a costly car

The only Essex point in common with cars in its price field—is price. There is little in either appearance or performance to distinguish it from many a costlier car.

In size, it possesses the advantage of compactness without sacrifice of passenger quarters or riding comfort. It steers as easily as any car you have ever driven. Won't you examine and drive the Essex, whether as a prospective buyer or as one interested in knowing why it is the choice car in its price field as proved by sales?
