When you buy Renne's Pain-Killing Oil, for it is just exactly as represented. The sure cure for neuralgia, headache, rheumatism and sprains. When injured apply Renne's Pain-Killing Oil, it is an antiseptic and will prevent blood poisoning. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle.
F. L. Manning, Jackson, Mich., writes: This is to certify that I have been a constant user of Renne's Pain-Killing Oil in my family for the past 20 years, and would no more think of being without it at all times in the house than I would without food. I know that by having it at hand to apply at once, we have saved much suffering and doctor bills. Get it—Keep it handy at all times, study the directions closely, follow them and you will never regret it. Sold by T. H. McGee.

"Abdo-Support" Corsets at Cook & Co.'s

SCORES ANOTHER VICTORY

Farmington 1 Beats the Duffields of Detroit.

Last Friday evening's basket ball game, Farmington 1 vs. Duffields of Detroit, was well attended and in spite of the score, 25 to 46, in favor of Farmington, it was a lively game to witness. It really was a better game than the score indicates. Altho' Farmington 1 had them outclassed at every point nevertheless the Duffields played a snappy game of ball.

Some little sympathy was rather openly expressed by some of the Farmington citizens for the Duffields' team, since the Duffield players were such little chaps. They were rather small that is true, Farmington team greatly outweighing them, but the Duffields in point of age were quite a bit ahead of Farmington. The Duffield team's average age was 18.5, while the average of Farmington's players was 17, simply another illustration of the fact that the simple life in rural villages is more conducive to bone and brawn than unhygienic life in large cities.

But the Duffields couldn't help their age nor size. In spite of the big score they played a good game, their team work being especially commendable.

All the Farmington players were in good form and played a clean and fast game. Farmington has the rather unique distinction of having never been defeated as yet in basket ball.

Notice

The county road institute for the counties of Macomb, Oakland and Wayne will be held in the county court house at Pontiac, Michigan, on January 5, 1911, at 10 o'clock a. m.

A representative of the state highway department will be in attendance to render any assistance possible in road building. Also this department desires your ideas and suggestion on matters pertaining to highways. We will be glad to meet with you and talk over plans for the future.

The attendance of yourself and friends who are interested in good roads is respectfully requested.

TOWNSEND A. ELY,
State Highway Com'r.

Card of Thanks

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Teagan wish to express their sincere thanks to their friends and neighbors for their sympathy and assistance in their great bereavement.

We pay more for labor in this country than in any country in the world, and labor pays more for rent, food and clothing in the United States than it does anywhere else. What the end will be no one knows, but every thoughtful man anticipates the anxiety.

According to a recent decision of the courts, a man who wants to go faster than his neighbor who is ahead of him on the road, has a right to pass. If he is prevented by the other and an accident happens because of the latter's interference, the obstructionist is responsible for the damage.

If each of us would abstain from throwing tin cans and rubbish in the alleys and empty lots, the appearance of the neighborhood would be greatly improved.

SERVICE DISCONTINUED

No More Cars This Winter to Redford Town Line

Last Tuesday morning, the half-hourly service on Grand River avenue between the city limits and the Redford Greenfield town line was discontinued for the winter, except that on week days the trip per service in the morning and evening will be given as now.

"This half hourly service during the day has been in the nature of an experiment," said General Superintendent Harry Bullen of the D. U. R., "and we have found that during the winter months it is not being patronized as is evidenced by the fact that the receipts aren't sufficient to pay the wages of the car crews."

Paid for Roads

The state highway department has issued its annual report for the year ending June 30, 1910. The report shows that for the year the state paid awards on approximately 187 miles of road, about equally divided between stone, macadam and gravel. During the same time the department received applications for reward for 292 miles of road. From the organization of the department to the beginning of the last fiscal year 341.69 miles of state reward road were built, $251,126 paid and a total of $264,130.75 reward money is still pending. Last year 204.37 miles were constructed and $137,327 paid in rewards.

Former reports of the department were always made in calendar years, and as a result were never away from the printers until the legislative sessions were well along.

Sweet are the uses of advertising. They dispel the season's dullness and remove one's wrinkles from the brow of the business men. They loosen purse strings and impart a motion to the nimble dollar. They are the delight of thrifty housewives and the male bargain hunter cannot resist their blandishments. They create values, beget competition. They are barometers of trade. They create fortunes. Their friends are on both sides of the counter. They educate the people and swell the ranks of shoppers. They are a stirring force in the community in which their arts are employed. Their extent indicates the town's business and their style the town's style. Show me, says a distinguished merchant, the advertisements of a town, and I will show you the town's balance sheet.

The need for heavy horses on the farm is increasing. Improved farm methods, scarcity of farm help, and the heavier machinery now coming into use, make the need for heavy horses more imperative. And the scarcity of farm help makes the heavy machines a necessity. The horse and the machine must do the work of more men. The big plow, the disk harrow, the heavy roller, the manure spreader, all call for heavy horses.

Light and wholesome griddle-cakes: Pare the crust from a 5 lb loaf of baker's or light home-made bread, crumb it into a porcelain dish and pour over it a pint of boiling milk. Cover and let it stand for ten minutes. When it swells add the yolk of two eggs, well beaten, a tablespoonful of melted butter, a half teaspoonful of salt, a fourth of a cupful of sifted flour and the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs. Then beat until the batter is smooth and velvety as cream. Add no baking powder as the beating makes it light. Drop it in little cakes on a hot griddle; bake quickly.—Farm Journal.

When You Buy a Fine Horse

you do not turn him loose along the road to graze. You put him into a field where you know the fences are all strong and where there is no chance of his breaking through and escaping. Why not follow the same plan with your money?

With all the protection you can give to your cash around the house, it is never safe. There are no hiding places that cannot be discovered. There are no houses that are absolutely fireproof. The newspapers are filled daily with accounts of robberies and destruction of concealed money. In other words your fences are never secure.

Protect your money just as you would your live stock. Put it into our bank where it will be perfectly safe.
