Farmington Observer MONDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1993 • FARMINGTON, MICHIGAN • 48 PAGES

VOLUME 105 NUMBER 4

Early classified: Thursday's clas sified sections 402-421, rental properties, are now available Wednesday evening at 6 p.m. Call 953-2297 or see the Reader's Service Index for more information. /2A

Volunteer plea: Former governor George Romney visited Farming-ton Hills recently and gave a rous-ing speech on volunteerism. /3A

Hills debate: Farmington Hills council candidates had another opportunity to discuss issues in a forum sponsored by the League of Women Voters and the Farming-ton/Farmington Hills Chamber of Commerce. /3A

COUNTY NEWS

Charges viewed: Our county commissioners consider whether Sheriff John Nichols should step down. /5A

MALLS & MAINSTREETS

Retail shuffle: Winchester Mall will soon boast a new mix of stores. /8A

TASTE

Breadwinner: Evelyn Dugal has won lots of ribbons at the Michigan State Fair for her bread. / 1B

Super Supper: Working mom Sally Sibthorp shares recipes for some quick, but delicious meals. /1B

STREET SCENE

Colour-ful: When the Living Colour tour for its most recent album "Stain" comes to town it will be a bit different than previous shows. /5B

SPORTS

Faicon football: Farmington High faced an extreme test Satur-day afternoon when Class AA playoff contender Livonia Stevenson showed up for a Lakes Divi-sion game. /1C

Hills Harrison and Plymouth

|   | INDEX   |
|---|---|
| Classifieds B-DAuto B-DIndox 10BEmployment . C,DReal Estato B,CCrossword 11BMalls 8A  | Obituaries 8BOn the agenda 8BPersonal Scene 7BPolice, fire calls 6ASports 1CStreet Scene 5BTasio 1B |
| HERE'S HOW TO REACH US  |   |
| Newsroom: 477–5450Newsroom Fax: 477–9722Sports: 953–2141Reader Comment Line: 953–2042Classified Advertising: 591–0900Display Advertising: 591–0500Display Advertising: 591–0500Ocebio/TV Weekly: 953–2199 |   |

Authority pursues downtown tax The Farmington Downtown Development Authority is following through with a plan to establish a Special Assessment District. An assessment on businesses within the district would replace an expected loss of $125,000.

erty tax cut, the DDA loses 60 percent of its tax increment financing reve-Farmington City Council approved an amendment to an ordinance that establishes a Special Assessment District to the Downtown Develop-ment Authority. With the state's recent school prop-

This means that the authority needs to replace a projected $125,000 loss from a $210,000 1994-95 budget. The council's approval of the omendplace 8 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 13, in Farmington City Hall. The regular DDA meeting, which was postponed Oct. 5, will be held 8 an.m. Tuesday, Oct. 19. The DDA then plans to ask the council Nov. 15 to approve holding a public hearing which will probably take place in December, Downey said. "Some 106 parcels would be subject to the special assessment," Downey said. "Everyone Is angered by what's happening In Lansing. We want to keep competitive In the marketplace.

At the wheel

ment Oct. 4 is the first of many hur-dles. This amendment designates the boundarles of the current DDA Au-thority District as a Principal Shop-ping District and further designates the DDA board of directors as the board of the Principal Shopping Dis-trict.

board of the Principal Snopping Dis-trict. "This would affect property owners of commercial properties," said Judy Downey, DDA director. Downey has mailed letters to every-one in the district — property owners, businesses and residents. An informational meeting will take Star Photos av Blance LEMITA Road Work: Debra Carver, who is a former X-ray technician, finds her job of transporting Farmington school children on bus No. 26 enjoyable.

Bus driver enjoys her workload

BY SUE BUCK STAFF WRITER

BY SUE BUCK STAFF WRITER

TAPP WRITER Debra Carver is revved up about eing a school bus driver. Whether she's leading her harges from Alameda Early Child-ood Center in a country music ing-a-long, is they hold imaginary hicrophones; making chitchat with

Larry Lichtman

.....

Winging it

North Farmington High school stu-dents, or talking to Fairview kin-dergarten students and parents, Carver demonstrates her fondness for childran Carver demonstrates her fondness for children. Carver didn't plan to make bus driving a career. She's a former See DRIVER, 2A other issue has made as much of an impact on people he sees in the com-impact on people he sees in the com-munity. "More people come up to me and osk about the ice arena than anything else," he said. "It's been surprising." Despite his enthusiaam and that of the 35-member ice arena committee he heads, there is no push to ask tax-my for an arena. "I think the city is going to have an ice arena in the next few years," he said. "Nobody is interested in using Soc LICHTMAN, 4A

See LICHTMAN, 4A

The party is by complementary invitation. Those interested in attending can call The Salva-tion Army at 477-1153.

Sculpture search

be Farmington Area Arts Commission would like to know if you have a sculpture on your property. The commission is put-ting together a buochure on interesting outdoor sculpture in Farmington and Farmington Hills. Residents are asked to send a photo of their sculpture, along with their name, address and telephone number to: Farmington Area Arts Com-mission, 31555 11 Mile Road, Farmington Hills 48336-1165.

Lichtman: No taxes for ice arena

Larry Lichtman is one of six candi-dates, including four incumbents, running for the Farmington Hills City Council. Election Day is Tuesday, Nov. 2.

FARMINGTON FOCUS

Little

FIFTY CENTS

See DDA. 6A

BY LARRY O'CONNOR STAFF WRITER

By LAMPY O'CONNOR STAFF WAITS The A word was the mast provident thing to come out of the first Farm-ington City Council candidate debate. More often than not, council hope-tals found thessives – nagreement on a number of start and the start purity – a start and the start and the start wast and the Farmington Wednesday Vares and the Farmington/Farming-the Farmington Hills City Council Candidates Mary Bush, Russell and Tupper had few apportunities to the Farmington Hills City Council Candidates Mary Bush, Russell and Tupper had few apportunities to the Farmington Hills City Council and Tupper had few apportunities to desire to serve. The only sign of friction came when Buyers as ald some residents have resoluted to him that city officials are not accessible. Buyers, who is network to he city. Candid and Tupper to ke excident.

Hills forum, 3A

"This council and city government is very open to the residents' concerns and is very accessible," Campbell and is very accessible," Campbell and. Added Tupper: "I get calls time to time, but never in the 16 years plus that I've been on the council has any-body ever told me, T've hard time get-ting in touch with someone." Bush echoed Campbell's and Tupper's statements. Buyers said in his closing state-ment that It was not meant as a per-sonal attack. Term limitations also brought differing opinions. The two chal-longers favored them; the two incum-bents did not. "Every two years, the community has an opportunity for term limita-tions," said Campbell, who is seeking See FORUM, 4A

See FORUM, 4A

BY BILL COUTANT STAFF WRITER

The Mercy Center and an ice arena study committee are two of the proj-ects councilman Larry Lichtman sees as examples of his contribution to the of the East Pavilion. Free health screenings, re-freshments and entertainment are planned as well as tours of the facility.

;

Pictures & More of Farmington will be host-ing a gallery party, featuring casual auc-tions, proviews of selected prints and pro-fessional advice on both home and office decor, Thursday, Oct. 14.

City Council

FARMINGTON HILLS term after winning back-to-back two-year terms in 1989 and 1991. "I think the lost couple of years have been pretty productive," he said. Lichtman, who found a lot of sup-port for his interest in a local ice are-nafmulti-purpose facility, said no city. Lichtman, 35, is seeking his third

. . . .

Western sizzler: The Farmington

Canton football teams met Friday night. /1C