The M. E. S. S. Library

Officiate said that the best university nowadays is a collection of good books. Then why not have a university right here in Farmington? We have already a splendid gathering of works of fiction in the township public library in the town hall. We are grateful for that library and let us all make the best of it.

There is a place for another library, however, in our village. There is the nucleus of a good library now in the M. E. Sunday school room, consisting of about 60 volumes. We want about 200 more volumes. Have you a book, a good book that has given you help or instruction? Here is an opportunity to pass it on. Place it in this library where many may receive the benefit of it.

Books of travel, history, reference, good fiction, biographies, science, etc., are desired and would be gratefully accepted.

Look over your own library and see what you can contribute to this excellent project. Hand your books to Mrs. Trussott, superintendent; Earle Gullen, librarian; N. H. Dickinson, assistant librarian; or G. E. Gullen, pastor.

The high school were badly beaten in Detroit last night but we were unable to learn the score.

National Corn Exposition

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 7.—The program for the fourth annual National Corn exposition, to be held January 30 to February 11, in the eight immense buildings on the Ohio State Exposition grounds has just been completed, and provides for one of the greatest National Agricultural exhibitions ever held in the world.

The buildings are connected by enclosed walks, comfortably heated and brilliantly illuminated, in all resembling a great summer garden with palms and plants and tender growing crops, giving the visitors a whiff of nature which will more remind them of a balmy day in June than of the winter season.

This great National Corn Exposition will be a grand round-up of all state agricultural shows and agricultural meetings. The name "Corn Exposition" does not mean that only corn will be shown, for all grains and grasses, the prize winners only, at the various state shows, will be in competition for the valuable National trophies.

More than 35 states will have competitive exhibits. Twenty-five state agricultural colleges and experiment stations will have scientific exhibits, each demonstrating its most advanced experimental work. These exhibits which will be in charge of expert demonstrators will deal in a practical way, with nearly every phase of the science of agriculture.

For instance: North Carolina will emphasize the cotton industry—from the growing plant to the manufactured article—with cotton gin and loom in actual operation; while Illinois will especially emphasize its soil work. Never before in the history of the world has there been such a showing of results in agriculture, based on scientific investigation.

The federal department of agriculture will be represented with its exhibit which fills two large furniture cars; and which has just been

Important among the many meetings, exhibits and other special features of this greatest of agricultural expositions may be mentioned the meetings of the American Beekeepers' association, the Ohio Division's association, the National Rural Life conference, the Ohio Conservation association, the Ohio Corn Improvement association and numerous live stock associations. There will be special features of vital interest to the Y. M. C. A., churches, colleges, schools, the farmer, and the city man and their families alike.

Special entertainment features will include a two-ring winter circus, band concerts with vocal soloists, and moving pictures.

Speakers of national wide reputation will deliver addresses daily on the National Corn Exposition program.

Headache?

Want to know the quickest and best way to stop it? Take

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills.

They are the best because they do not leave any disagreeable after-effects. Just simply quiet the nerve irritation which causes the distress. What is equally important they do not derange the stomach—only a pleasurable sense of relief follows their use.

"I am in fairly good health, but subject to frequent heavy, cloudy head and occasionally dull pain. I get relief with one or two of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. They are very beneficial to me and I do not like to be without them." D. F. LEWIS, Cleveland, O.

The first package will benefit; if not, your druggist will return your money.
