BY TAYLOR MICHAELS

Q: I'd like to know more about Teri Hatcher of "Lois and Clark: The New Adventures of Superman." Where could I write to her? I've been a big fan of hers every since I saw her in a "Tales From the Crypt" episode. —Mark Edward Welch, Corning, Calif.

A: Hatcher hails from San Francisco. While taking acting lessons at the prestigious American Conservatory Theater, she earned a double major in math and engineering from DeAnza College. She made her film debut in the comedy "The Big Picture" and was featured as one of the vixens trying to foil Sally Field in "Soapdish." In addition to a memorable guest appearance on "Seinfeld" last season, she's been seen in the movies "Dead in the Water,"

"Straight Talk" and "Tango and Cash."

She is engaged to actor Jon Tenney and lives on a farm north of Los Angeles. Write to her in care of her series, ABC Television Network, 4151 Prospect Ave., Los Angeles, Calif. 90027.

Q: Who was the actress who played Beau Bridges' mother-in-law on the Oct.

30 episode of "Harts of the West"? —R. Marmo, Hurley, N.Y.

A: That was perennial Oscar nominee (and Laura Dern's mother) Diane Ladd, who appeared in "Rambling Rose" and "Wild at Heart," among many other feature films.

Q: Was that Ernest Borgnine on the Nov. 6 show of "The Commish"? I thought he was dead. How old is he? —Carl McMinn, Fenton, Mich.

A: That was indeed Borgnine, who was born Jan. 24, 1917, in Hamden, Conn.

Q: Where can I get a copy of "Pepe" with Cantinflas? I understand this was put on tape. —V. Drisdon, San Leandro, Calif.

A: It is not currently available on tape.
