

VOLUME 105 NUMBER 33

Farmington Observer

Look for coupons today

 Cut your weekly grocery bill an average $20 to $30 a week clipping coupons by Kraft, Nabisco, Heinz and others that will be inserted into today's issue of your home-delivered Observer

 While you are clipping turn to the Taste section in Monday's paper for quick and easy recipes your family will enloy.

. Don't miss out on the savings. To have the Observer delivered to your home, call 591-0500.

Hey, partner: The Farmington Public Schools and area business-es are forging a special relation-

Tale of the tape: A Farmington Hills firm has helped authorities get a picture of the man who at-tacked Nancy Kerrigan. /11A

OPINION

City concerns: Industry, downtown business should be near the top of Farmington's agenda for 1994. /14A

Twinkle-toeing: Farmington Hills resident Raymond M. Dubin, this week's guest columnist, has some advice for state Sen. Jack Faxon. /15A

ENTERTAINMENT

Movies: Academy Award honorees Robert Duvall and Rich-ard Harris star in "Wrestling Er-nest Hemingway," which opens Friday. /78

SPORTS

Intra-city dual: Harrison over came a determined effort by North Farmington to win a volleyball match in four games Monday. /1B

SUBURBAN LIFE

It's marvelous!: Marvin's Marvelous Museum is a marvel of gadgets, gizmos, kiddie rides and collectibles. The Farmington Hills retreat attracts preschoolers, teens and adults looking for a good time. /1C

Creative Living . 1D
Crossword . . . 2E
Entertainment . . 5B
Oblinaries . . . 6A
Opinion . . 14-15A
Police, fire calls . 2A
Personal Scene . . 4G

HERE'S HOW TO REACH US

Newsroom: 477-5450 Newsroom Fax: 477-9722 Sports: 953-2141 Sports: 953-2141 ader Comment Line: 953-2042 assified Advertising: 591-0900 Display Advertising: 591-2300 Home Deliven: 591-0500 Cable/TV Weekh: 953-2182

Quake wakes California dreamer

A California dreamer with Farmington Hills connections counts himself as a survivor of Monday's earthquake in the Los Angeles area. It was the worst, but not the first, quake he's experienced.

BY BILL COUTANT

Monday's earthquake served as a "hell of an alarm clock" to wake Christopher Farley from his California dream just after 4:30 a.m. Pacific Standard Time.

The former Farmington Hills resident and Harrison High School graduate says it's just the latest proof that he, and many of his fellow Los Angelenes must be in deniel.

"It must be a pretty strong passion for this dream (of succeeding as a TV producer)," said Farley, who has lived in LA. for four years. "I traded clean air, green trees and friends for smog, riots, fires, floods and now this."
Farley, 26, spoke from NIEC studies in Burbank where he has become

Round and round and up and down something of a success already. He loves his work producing TV shows, but hasn't exactly come to terms with the uneasy ground in sunny southern California.

California.

"It's always in the back of your mind," said the Grand Valley State University graduate and former Farmington Observer carrier. "You look at a map and you can see how it could just be mad you can see how it could just be mad you can see how it will be seen to be seen through, but not the first.

"I've been through about one a year," he said. "The first time it felt like something was shaking my bed. This time I knew what it was. I leaped up and his gitlifriend escaped without injury, went outside, got into a car and turned on the radio. "Then I went back in a little later and goismy pants, then my glesses." A book shelf fell and a TV set and glass 'table were amashed at his, apartment during the quake. Farley's cat was also trapped behind a stair-

There's no thrill in chill

The temperature has fallen and it can't get up.

— Sonny Eliot

WWJ weatherman and Farmington Hills resident

BY BILL COUTANT AND LARRY O'CONNOR STAFF WRITERS

There's cold, there's damn cold . . . and there was Wednesday.
Farmington-area residents had to bundle up and cope with the second lowest temperatures recorded in this century. Wednesday, the mercury dipped to 18 degrees below zero with wind chills exceeding the 50-below mark.

wind chills exceeding the 50-below mark.

The arctic blast kept kids at home as Farmington Public Schools closed. Building and Student Services direc-tor Don Cowan said the decision was made 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Heavy anowfalls usually close schools, but Cowan said there was a concern for children who walk to school or wait for a bus in the frigid weather.

weather.

"We normally don't go by weather predictions because living in Michigan you know how those can change," Cowan said. "When you're talking about degrees and temperatures, it's more predictable."

The few hardy souls to brave cold were police offices and firefighters, mail carriers and tow truck delivers.

Farmington Hills police were doing all they could to keep up with the ac-all they could to keep up with the uccidents.

"We've had 14 accidents in 24 hours since 7 am," said Sgt. Ray Cranston, Hills police traffic supervisor. "On a normal day, we have seven to eight accidents."

Cranston said that even with less traffic thanks to achool closings, the extreme cold renders road sait useless.

"We had a normal number of accidents yesterday (Tuesday)," Cranston said. "But today (Wednesday) it's too cold for sait. We're using sand on the roads to provide some traction, but it is quickly absorbed into the snow."

See COLD, 3A

City finds wait problem exercise in futility

tt's just marvelous: Leah Canvasser, 3, rides on an antique carousel at Marvin's Marvelous Museum in Farmington Hills. For a story and more photographs, please see the Suburban

BY LARRY O'CONNOR
BYAPT WATER

Farmington city officials are getting wait-and-see-sick.

For the past year, Lansing has dished out tax proposals like slop in an Army mess hall. City officials have had to chew on the consequences of each one.

That, said Farmington city mana.

The March 15 ballot proposal is the latest to weigh. The ballot pro-posal calls for a 5-percent cap per parcel of property on assessment in-creases, which would take a bite out of revenue where the average increase is 8 to 9 percent.

Lauboff figures the city can lose up to $300,000 in state revenue sharing as well. He predicted the loss will have a major effect on city services.

The challenge, he added, is deciding what's important and what's not.
"It's tought," Lauhoff said. "We've learned to expand government. We haven't learned how to reduce government."

ment."

Lauhoff is not specific about which

See WAITING, 2A

A 'Chili' day for golf

A 'Chill' day for golf

et three layers of clothes, gloves, hat, scarf, botts. - and your golf clubs. Now you're ready to participate in the 1994 Farmington Hills Recreation Division's Chill Golf Outing.
The event will begin at 10 am. Saturday, Jan.
9, at the San Marino Golf Course, on Halstod between 10 Mile and 11 Mile roads.
Two nine-hole golf courses — Snow Tops and
The Polar Bear. — have been laid out this year,
aid Jim Hardy, golf supervisor.
The nine-hole tournament will use individual attoke play and a shetgun start. Following the competition, a meal of chill and hot dogs will be available. Gift crafticates will be presented and a drawing for prizes will be held.
Registration fee in $15 per person with a maxi-

FARMINGTON FOCUS

mum of 88 entries (the number that played in last year's event) to be accepted at the Farmington Hills Recreation Office, 11 Mile and Orchard Lake reads, during normal business hours before the deadline of Jan. 24. For more information, call 473-9570.

Bands, bands, bands

he Farmington Community Band will join community bands from Birmingham, Novi, Plymouth, Schoolcraft College and South Oakland at the 14th annual Festival of Bands 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 29, in center court of the Twelve Oaks Mall in Novi. Master of ceremo-nies will be Carl Grapentine, a Chicago radio per-

Memory Lane

From the Jan. 28, 1854, edition of the Farmington Enterprise:

8 Spotty, a dog and the official mascot for the Parmington March of Dimes 1954 campaign, was aboven in his campaign gear.

8 Buick Specials were advertised at $2,207 at Jimplums Buick, 32411 Grand River, Farmington.

9 The new Weathrook Elamentary School on Oanus Street in Farmington Township copened for classes. It was in the Clarenceville District.