

ROYAL VALLEY

NERO and TZAR COFFEES

Stop a moment and think how important is coffee in your home life.

What is there that could take its place? It is important that you TRY such a coffee as we claim NERO and TZAR to be—with a view to having better coffee for less money.

Nero and Tzar are ECONOMICAL, because of their stronger "body"—which makes it unnecessary to use as much of them as of other coffees at the price.

And they are PURER and RICHER IN FLAVOR than any other coffee sold in Farmington for less than 10c to 15c more per pound.

The coffees themselves prove it.

ROYAL VALLEY NERO COFFEE is 25c and TZAR 35c per pound—and they are the biggest values you ever saw.

DESCRIBES THE ANIMAL MIND

Magazine Writer Says Animals and Birds Do Not Have Powers of Thought.

When an animal acts in obedience to its purely physical needs, and according to its anatomical structure, as when ducks take to the water, or hens scratch, or hogs root, or woodpeckers drill, etc., we do not credit it with powers of thought, says John Burroughs in a recent number of the Atlantic. These and similar things animals do instinctively. When the wood mite got into my cabin the other day and opened two small jars of butter that had loose tin tops, I did not credit them with anything like human intelligence, because to use their paws deftly—digging, climbing, manipulating is natural to mice. I have seen a chipmunk come into a house from his den in the woods and open a pasteboard box with great deftness and help himself to the nuts inside, which, of course, he needed. We do not credit a bird with rational intelligence when it builds its nest, no matter how skillfully it may weave or sew, or how artfully it may hide from its enemies. It is doing precisely as its forebears have done for countless generations. Hence, it acts from inherited impulse.

But the monkey they told me about at the zoological park in Washington that has been seen to select a stiff straw from the bottom of its cage, and use it to dislodge an insect from a crack, showed a gleam of free intelligence. It was an act of judgment on the part of the monkey, akin to human judgment. In like manner the chimpanzee Mr. Hornaday tells about that used the trapeze bar in the cage as a lever with which to pry out of the horizontal bars on the side of the cage, and otherwise to do mischievous things, showed a kind of intelligence that is above instinct, and quite beyond the capacity, say, of a dog.

Reward Woman Inventor.

The first woman to receive recognition by the Aeronautical society is Mrs. Frank Ralabe of New York, who has received one of the gold awarded flights in a plane partly of her own invention, the first woman to accomplish such work.

Perilous Activity.

Madge—I hear that Charlie is an awful spendthrift.

Marjorie—I should say he was. He's trying to make two wild oats grow where only one grew before—Puck.

The Worst to Come.

"Do you think we have heard the worst of the disorders in our party?"

"Not yet," replied the medical man. "Just wait till our glue club gets to practicing."

Fame at Last.

"Whatever is the matter, Percy?" asked the poet's wife, "why are you tearing your hair out?"

"O, Scribbler's Magazine has sent me an acceptance for a poem!"

"Why, that's grand! You have been trying to sell them something for so long."

"Well, perhaps it is, but I find the soundest I meant to send them is right here on my desk and what I sent them was the backing sheet that I've been using on my typewriter for the last three months!"
