Photography from page 6A

Warren shows great compassion for the less fortunate, hiding their faces whenever possible to preserve their dignity.

"One guy is totally silhouetted; you can't see who he is. It could be anybody." Warren sald. "If were digging in the trash cans, I wouldn't want the world to see me. There's people walking by, but nobody says here's a couple dollars for a hamburger. Another guy is sleeping in a shopping cart. guy is sleeping in a shopping cart. I watched people walk by. They ignored him like it was common-ignored him like it was commonplace."

Warren began the series in earnest the spring of 1991 as a book project, but the stimulus dates back to 1984. A focal point in the exhibition, the photograph is one of two color blow-ups. Warren took it in New York City while touring with ZZ Top and Detroit's assistant.
Large concrete columns loom
above a small heap of a man
above an the strest it is dealight.

assistant.

Large concrete columns loom
above a small heap of a man
asleep on the steps, it is daylight.

"There's a lot of violence in the wandering the streets and sleep during the day," he said. "Living in groups, the younger stronger ones take care of the weak." Warren's wife Elaine, who has provided support throughout the project, points out that the prob-lems of Phoenix's homeless differ lems of Phoenix's homeless differ greatly from those in Anchorage. However, they all share a common need, the need for human com-panionship, a little kindness, a nod to their existence.

nod to their existence.
"Many migrate with the seasons; many in southern California had come from up north," she said. "It's so easy to be homeless. Most people are seared of them because in the backs of their minds they realize that could be them. Who doesn't live from payabole to nucheck? check to paycheck?

"The photographs show they're touchable, that they're brothers, they're sisters. We all go through life seeding, planting and watering seeds. If you realize it will come back to you, it's easy to give."

Warren's inspiration for the se-Warren's inspiration for the se-ries came from photographers who recorded the plight of Ameri-cans during the Great Depression. Dorotheo Lange, Margaret Bourke-White and Walker Evans serve as heroes. In spite of the fact he suffers periodic bouts with depression, Warren plans to con-tinue his social documentary un-til the homeless cease to exist in world, look," he said.

"Why does anyone go out and document this horror? Because they're living less than dogs. Stop world, look," he said.

Two years of searching for a space finally brought Warren's exhibition to light. Gallery owners balked, fearing it would be unprofitable. Arts commissioners declined; the subject matter was too clined; the subject matter was too depressing.

Urban Park gallery director Dave Roberts makes it his policy to show work on the cutting edge. But his reason for exhibiting Warren's documentary series on the homeless canne straight from the heart. The images moved him. "I was compelled to exhibit the work of Guy Warren because not only are the images compositionally strong but also because Warren is attempting to educate and motivate his audience," solid Roberts. "The black and white photographs in this exhibit are on one hand technically superb and on the other hand urge an audience response.

Here we have an example of of the photographic image being used in a manner that transcends the traditional art exhibit."

At 40, 'Streetcar' still sizzles

By JOHN MONAGHAN Special Writes

Several, Warrea Few films of the 1950s have aged as well as "A Streetear Named Desire." Its depiction of a woman on the verge of a nervous breakdown and her brutish brother-in-law ushered in a newera of screen acting and frank-mess.

McCarthy-era censors didn't want to see it that way. Calling portions of the film "objection-able" and filled with "perversity," they especially wanted the elimactic scene between Stanley and Blanche toned down. Warner Brothers, which invested a lot of time and money in the project, agreed to cuts to get the censors off their backs.

Those snipped four minutes, shots and snatches of dialogue, shots and snatches of dialogue, shots and snatches of dialogue, have been restored to the version of "Streetear" currently at the Main Art Theater in Royal Oak. And while they don't alter greatly the overall impact of the film, it comes off closer to the way directed library of the control of McCarthy-era censors didn't ed ...

ded. "Streeten" is arguably the finest hour for both Kazan who also made "Bast of Eden" and "On the Waterfront") and playwright Tennessee Williams, who penned his own screenplay.
It was a labor of love that brought together the best talent in the industry and solidified emerging leading man Marlon Brando's place in move history.

MOVIES

Although she wasn't the first choice for the role, it's hard to picture anyone but Vivien Leigh as Blanche DuBois. The faded Southern belle with a bizarre romantic history was almost the flip side of her strong-willed Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone with the Wind."

The scenes with Brando sizzle, His grunting, numbling Stanley Kowalski contrasts so completely with her fragile personality. Brando wasn't afraid to make his character unlikable and hortibly real. Still, as much as you despise him, you can't help but watch.

Not surprisingly, there's a picture of Brando's Stanley in the cramped apartment where much of "Naked" takes place. The new film from British writer/director Mike Leigh will hopefully move to the suburbs soon after acreening this past weekend at the Detroit Film Theatre downtown.

The focus here is on Johnny (David Thewlis), a bedraggled, acid-tong-unden hitchhiker who shows up one day on his old girl-friend's deorstep. After an intense but brief fling with the woman's unemployed roommate, Sophie streets of London in search of other companionship.

What makes Johnny such a fescinating character is his lightning-fast wit, which no one around him seems to understand. The old flame, Louise (Lesley Sharp), an extremely nice woman, offers much-needed stability, but she bores him within minutes.

The people he encounters beneath various rocks in downtown London don't look much better. He meets a loud young Scot with a nervous disorder, a night watchman who prowls an empty office building and an aging actoholic who looks much more appealing from far sway when Johnny spots her swaying boozily in an apartment window.

Leigh, who made the comparatively gentle comedies "flight Hopes" and "Life Is Sweet," creates an incredibly dark portrait of action and "Life Is Sweet," creates an incredibly dark portrait of self-destruction, maybe even the end of the world. You'll want to slice your wrists after this bleak view of existence, but you'll bleed to death having seen what may be the year's most intelligent and uncompromising film.

If you have a comment for John Monaghan, call him at 953-2047, mailbox 1868, on a Touch-Tone phone, or write to him care of Street Scene, Observer & Eccen-tric Newspapers, 36251 School-craft, Livonia, MI 48150.

Sweaterfish from page 6A

He carried his image into his 20s and his band Sweaterfish. Musically, Sweaterfish — which also includes guitarist Eric Liv-logston, bassist John Hobbs, and also includes guitarist. Brie Liv-Ingston, bassist John Hobbs and drummer Paul Valente — reflects all of their styles. The band has been compared to a string of groups ranging from Bauhaus to, strangely enough, the Kinks. Sweaterlish fan Mark Chownyk strangely enough, the Kinks.

Sweaterfish fan Mark Chownyk describes the band as "refreshing," by melodic and disturbingly surreal." It's the classification of "Goth pop" that annoys March.
"Since I have a slim vocal range on, there's not too many famous people out there (with voices like that) "explained March whose band covers Bauthaus" "Bela Lugoal's Dead." He describes his bandl's moody feeling as "brood ing with dark overtones."

Although their blend of gothrock and shoegazer pop is many times considered "retro." March believes that their music is valid today."

"I think it's kind of timeless,"

"I think it's kind of timeless,"

"I Moreh while seated in "I think it's kind of timeless," said March, while seated in Hobbis' lavish black and white Royal Oak apartment which iron-ically blends modern and classic art. Hobbs added that Sweater-fish is representative of the music each member enjoys. "We're just attracted to music that's just kind of timeless. I'm still a big Bauhaus fan and Irn also a big Cure fan . . . Hopefully that influences our music, too, said Hobbs who personally is flattered by comparisons to Bauhaus.

said Hobbs whe personally is Rattered by comparisons to Bauhaus.

Annexpected fan of the hand trend out to be the legendary New York club CBGB. Sweaterfish was asked to play CBGB only a menth after Hobbs submitted materials about the band. That's amezingly quick for any club. Their September 1993 show was toped by video director Peter Wallach of Peter Gabriel's 'Big Time' fame and son of actor Eli Wallach. Hobbs met Wallach may be a submitted while the two were working on a TV commercial in New York. Sweaterfish was flattered but silightly uneasy that someone of that stature was at their gig. "I was nervous because I know he's worked with some big people ... with huge budgets. We were all nervous being in the club in the first place," Hobbs said. Although Hobbs used his connections to get Wallach to film their show, they got the CBGB show based on their talent alone, he said.

Part of Sweaterfish's attraction is their down-to-earth attitude and realistic lyrics — two traits that many people can relate to.

ate with it." March said.

Sweaterfish performs Thursday, March 10, with Fiction and Bright Black at 3-D, 1815 N. Main St., Royal Oak. For more information, call (310) 889-3344. Other upcoming performances include Fridge March 1 at the Magic Bag Theatre Cafe, Woodward Accenurath of Nine Mile Road, Ferndale, with Bent Lucy and HAL (810) 544-3030; Saturday, March 19, at the Majestic, 4140 Woodward Ave. Detroit, with Bargia Popes and Caelum Bliss, (313) 963-7869; Friday, April I, at Liil's, 2930 Jacob, Hamtramck, with the Trash Brats, (313) 875-6665; Friday, April 8, at Alwin's, 5756 Cass, Detroit, with Bent Lucy, (313) 832-2355.

A sampling of what's playing at alternative movie theaters across metro Detroit as reviewed by "Our shows are pretty angst-filled. There's real power behind them. A lot of people can associ-ate with it." March said.

M DETROIT FILM THEATRE

DETROIT FILM THEATRE
Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200
Woodward, Detroit. Call 833-2323
for information. ($5)
"The 24th International Tournee of Animation," 7 and 9:30 p.m. March I.1-2; 1, 4 and 7 p.m.
March 13. A carefully selected program of short animated films from around the world. Among the highlights this year: "The Man Who Yelled," "Mr. Resistor," the musical "Ride to the Abyss" and a tribute to claymation pioneer Will Vinton. M KINOTEK Capitol Theatre and Arts Centre,
121 University, Windsor, Call
519-971-5160 for information. ($4.50)
"Persona" (Sweden — 1965), 9 p.m. March 12-14, One of director Ingmar Bergman's finest hours, about a famous actress (Liv Ull-SCREEN SCENE man) cared for by a young nurse (Bibi Andersson). Soon, as they grow more isolated from the out-side world, their personalities begin to merge.

gin to merge.

MAGIC BAO THEATER
22918 Woodward, Ferndale. Coll
344-3030 for information. (84)

"Dazed and Confused" (USA 1993), B pm. March 10. It's the last day of school in 1976 as temagers ponder the bigger issues in life, such as who will drive to get the Argonith tickets. Richard

"Slacker" Linklater directs this subversive and entertaining comedy.

MAIN ART THEATER

118 N. Main at 11 Mile, Royal
Oak. Films play through at least Thuraday. Call 542-0189 for information and show times. ($6.50; $4$ students; $3$ twilght/mainee)
"Schindler's List" (USA—1993). Stephen Spielberg may finally get his Academy Award for this story of Oskar Schindler (Liam Neeson), a war profiteer and Nazi crony who saved the lives of more than 1,000 Jews during the Holoceaust.

"Six Degrees of Separation" (USA — 1994). Based on John Guare's award-winning play, a savvy young man (Will Smith) poses as Sidney Politier's son to cajole his way into the home of a Fifth Avenue couple (Donald Sutherland and Stockard Channing).

ing).
"A Streetcar Named Desire"
(USA — 1954). Elia Kazan's stillstunning version of Tennessee
Williams' most famous play arrives with four additional minutes intect. Altho intact. Although the changes aren't as earth-shattering as the McCarthy-era censors would have liked you to believe, it's still a treat to see the young Marlon Brando on the big screen.

MAPLE THEATER 4135 W. Maple, Bloomfield Township, Call 855-9030 for in-formation. ($5.75; $3.95 matinee; $2.95 twilight)

in concert

SHARON SHANNON BAND The Ark, 6371/5 S. Main St., Ann Arbor, (Celtic accordionist) (Celtic accordion) (313) 761-1451

PAUL VORNHAGEN QUARTET Bird of Paradise, 207 S. Ashley, Ann Ar-

CRY OF LOVE Harpo's, 14238 Harper, Detroit, (rock) (313) 824-1700

bor, (jazz) (313) 662-8310

HUGE HEATED TENT

ENTERTAINMENT ON 3 STAGES
BEGINS AT BAM WRIF LIVE BROADCAST WITH
ARTHUR PENHALLOW 3PM-7PM
AND

Leprechaun

49 Monroc

96.4-000 from page 6A

THE CHISEL BROS. WITH THORNETTA Davis Moby Dicks, $452 Schaefer Road, Dear-born, (blues) (313) 581-3650

REGULAR BOYS Speakeasy, 31410 Ford Road, Garden City, (blues) (313) 425-7373

BLUES ACTION COUNCIL Stan's Dugout, 3350 Auburn Road, Auburn Hills. (blues) PAUL MARYIN BLUES BAND Stan's Dugout, 4000 Garfield, Clinton Township. ((810) 412-1040 ashin, (blues) CRASSY JACKS

With Mod Dog at Gnil's Gnil, 49 N. Saglnaw, Pontiac. (rock)
(810) 334-9292

BILLY SUNDAY With Y.O.U. at Finney's Pub, 3965 Wood-ward Ave., Detroit. (rock) (313) 831-8070

Stop Suit Stuss BAND

Dute Suit Stuss BAND

Doc Frock's, 7935 W. Maple, West
Bloomfield, (blues)
(810) 624-7200

GENERAL CLUSTERFUNK The Rizz, 17580 Frazho, Roseville. (rock) (810) 778-6404

UNCLE JESSIE WHITE & BORSY EAST The New Silo. 41270 Hayes, Clinton Township. (blues)

BUGS BEDDOW BRIGADE New Place Lounge, 22327 Michigan Ave.,

(between Military and Outer Drive) Dear-tom. (blues) (313) 277-3035

Saturday, March 12 ROBERT NOLL Sisko's, 5855 Monroe, Taylor, (blues) (313) 278-5340

UB40
With US3 at Fox Theatre, 2211 Wood-ward Ave., Detroit, (reggae/jazzy rap)
(313) 396-7600

DAVE ALVIN The original member of The Blasters plays Blind Pig. 206-208 S. First St., Ann Arbor. (folk)

JAWBOX
With Trenchmouth and Girls Against Boys at St. Andrew's Half, 431 E. Congress.
Detroit. (rock)
(313) 961-MELT

URGE OVERKILL With Eugenius at State Theatre, 2115 Woodward Ave., Detroit, (rock) (313) 961-5450

RFD BOYS The Ark, 6371/2 S. Main St., Ann Arbor.

(bluegrass) (313) 761-1451 PAUL VORNHAGEN QUARTET Bird of Paradise, 207 S. Ashley, Ann Ar-

bor. (jazz) (313) 662-8310

THE CHISEL BROS. WITH THORNETTA Davis Moby Dicks, 5452 Schaefer Road, Dear-born. (1981m & blues) (313) 581-3650

(313) 301-300-3 REGULAR BOYS Speakeasy, 31410 Ford Road, Garden Speakeasy, 314 City, (blues) /313) 425-7373

THE ALLIGATORS Mr. Lou's, 16117 Mark Ave., Detroit, (blues) (313) 882-1700

THE MOTOR CITY
Shakers
Sports-A 50's Bar & Gnil, 166 Maple, Wyandotte, (blues)
(313) 285-5060

BLIND GUY DRIVING With Tryst at Griff's Griff, 49 N. Saginaw Pontlac. (810) 334-9292

JASON MCCAULEY BERRY With Mean Red at Alvin's, 5756 Cass With Mean Red at Ave., Detroit, (rock) (313) 832-2355

BLACK MALI With Vambo Marble Eye at Finney's Pub. 3965 Woodward Ave., Detroit. (rock) (313) 831-8070

BLUE SUIT BLUES BAND Doe Frock's, 7935 W, Maple, West

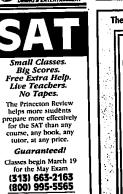

GENERAL CLUSTERFUNK The Ritz, 17580 Frazho, Roseville. (rock) (810) 778-6404

BUGS REDOOM BRIGADE New Place Lounge, 22327 Michigan Ava., (between Military and Outer Drive), Door-born, (blue) (313) 277-3035

Sunday, March 13

TA ADAMS Justry, 15 S. Saginaw, Pontiac. eduled from March 7. (mythm cheques blues) /810) 334-1999

We Score More

For information dial the DKC Hothre-DKC-SHOW 352-7469 its available at Cobo Ca and Tichet Masser

Adults - $7.00 Children under 12 ft Senior Citizens - 35.00 Family Pass - $20.00 (2 adults, 3 children)