

Congratulations!

We're proud of the outstanding young people who are featured in this special supplement. We know it took a real commitment to reach this point in their lives.

When you pursue any worthwhile goal, whether it's academic excellence or publishing the best possible hometown newspapers, it takes a lot of energy and effort to stay on track. Especially these days.

So we salute each one of you. Set your goals high. Always strive to be the best you can be.

We'll be there to report your success.
