Sufferers from indigestion are waking up to the fact that peppermint lozenges, charcoal and "dyspepsia cures" are only makeshifts in the cure of a troublesome complaint.

HIS READY WIT WON PLACE

Under Prefecture in French Government Goes to Young Man With Smart Tongue.

There is now in the French Chamber as an attaché of one of the Ministerial departments a young man who has his own name in his native France. He went up to Paris with a letter of introduction to a minister; and was received in the stereotyped fashion. At the department he looked his portliness and by way of a joke something asked the young man if he would like to have his photograph taken. The present was accepted and the minister overheard him with thanks.

After receiving the photograph the young man absented himself altogether from the bureau. Two months elapsed and then there was a chance meeting in the street. The minister smiling, asked the suitor the cause of his prolonged absence.

"Mon Dieu, monsieur le Ministre," was the reply, "I had your photograph and spoke to it, and that was enough for me. And what did my photograph do for you? 'What favor?' inquired the minister. "Oh, nothing, absolutely nothing," was the quick reply, "exactly as the original, so I knew the resemblance was perfect."

The next day this youth of enterprise, received his appointment and he is said to be named for an under prefecture.

OCULIST'S NEW DISCOVERY

Theory of Process of Vision is Changed as Result of Series of Experiments.

A new discovery with regard to the phenomena of the sense of sight has been announced by Dr. F. W. Edridge-Green, an eminent English authority in visual research. He has found by an interesting series of experiments and tests that the process of vision is not the simple transmission by the optic nerve to the brain of objects photographed upon the retina.

The new discovery is an untechnical language amounts to this: In front of the retina there is a small chamber or sac of clear liquid which is in constant motion of currents or eddies. Dr. Green finds that this liquid itself contains distinct perceptive nerve power which plays an important part in conveying impressions to the brain.

In other words, this wonderful fluid contains living cells, which, which transmit to the undergrowth, a considerable part of the impression it receives of color, form, etc.

Take Kaiser to Task

Emperor William of Germany in receipt of a singular petition forwarded to Berlin by the Passaic (N. J.) Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. It calls attention to the fact that in the equestrian park at Passaic, N. J., a beautiful long tail entrance to the new railway bridge at Gologone the tail of the horse is docked. The petition sets forth that "your majesty is no doubt aware that the docked tail of the horse constitutes one of the worst cruelties practiced on a dumb beast." It adds: "In our humble opinion it would be a mistake to leave the statue in its present form. A beautiful long tail might be put in the place of the stump. Such an alteration would not only add much to the beauty of the statue, but would also stop adverse criticism regarding your majesty's feelings toward a humane cause." The emperor has not yet replied to the petition.

Old Timber Stronger Than New

Which is the stronger, a piece of sound old timber or a piece of new? We think it probable that the majority of engineers would say that the new timber was the stronger. In neither case, however, the opinion would be mere guesswork, for there has been hitherto, so far as we recall, no authentic information on this point. This lack is now supplied in a paper by Mr. C. Buchanan, in which he shows as a result of careful tests, that sound timber a quarter of a century old is materially stronger than new stock.

Mr. Buchanan's tests were made on white pine, but there is no reason to suppose that oak, hard pine or any other wood commonly used in building would behave differently. It is fair to conclude that all wood maintains its strength, except an decay, weakens it or fire and mechanical abrasion destroy it.—Engineering News.

Lobsters Washed Ashore in Storm

During the recent storm, which was the worst that has swept the New Brunswick coast in a number of years, thousands of lobsters of all sizes have been washed ashore on the North Beach at Restigouche. For a distance of several hundred yards a reef was formed on the shore of all sorts of fish, including an immense quantity of rock eels as well as lobsters, which fishermen say are more than the traps would secure in a season.

Thousands of birds of the sea were on the beach eating the soft part of the lobsters and leaving only the claws. The birds were present in all directions. Although there have been many severe storms here in the past, no one recalls an event of this kind. A great many have visited the beach to watch the gulls and other birds voraciously enjoying the feast for them.—Levinson Journal.

RISE OF MORGAN DYNASTY

Foundation of Fortune Laid by Ancestor Who Fought in Washington's Army.

Most of our wealthy men started in small ways. Carnegie was a messenger boy. Rockefeller stamped the cow's head on his native Pennsylvania. H. H. Rogers and Russell Sage were grocer's clerks. Harriman was a broker's office boy. James J. Hill was a section hand, or something like that. But four generations of the Morgans have been born in the purple, so to speak. The Morgan dynasty runs back to the days of the American revolution. Joseph Morgan, after fighting in Washington's army, proceeded to lay the turbine of the house. It did not take him long to rise to the control of the chief transportation lines in Connecticut. They were nothing but stage lines, but they were worth controlling just the same. Later on he figured as one of the capitalists of the Aetna Fire Insurance company of Hartford. His grandson is J. Pierpont Morgan, Sr., and young J. P. is, of course, the chief.

Of all the multimillionaires of our day, Morgan the elder remains the most inscrutable. All the others, Rockefeller, Harriman, Rogers and the rest have at one time or another thawed out in the presence of the newspaper and magazine men. Morgan has never thawed out. His personality is as far removed from public scrutiny now as it was when he was the center of the whirlwind contest with Jay Gould forty years ago.—Current Literature.

HE BROKE THE ENGAGEMENT

Cruel Misunderstanding Disrupts Matrimonial Plans of Count and Chicago Girl.

The sudden death in New York of Sir Clifton Robinson, "the traction king," was being discussed in a New York club.

"Sir Clifton Robinson," said a New York man, "built miles and miles of street railways in this country. He liked this country. He especially liked our young men."

"I once heard him say that our young men were not mercenary—that it was practically impossible for an American young man to marry for money. But a young foreigner, he declared, would marry his grandmother if there was a hundred a year in it."

"A Chicago woman on a liner, he said, once remarked: 'Yes, Matel was engaged to be married to a handsome young count she met in Budapest last summer; but there was a cruel misunderstanding.'

"Indeed, how was that?" asked another woman.

"The count," was the reply, "understood her father was a multimillionaire."

Two Kinds of Riches

Dollar chasing by day; bridge whist by night; home a place for sleeping only, is not success. Live to make it successful. Make it a day of progress, kindness and work. A lot of such to-days in your old age will be pleasant to look back upon.

If your to-days are dollar chasing and character killing, looking backward in the old age days will be a cheerless picture. "Yes," says Bill Success, "you can be rich—there are two kinds of riches, dollars and happiness."

There are two doors, Dollars at the left and Happiness at the right, and the ticket taker is at the entrance and his name is "Compensation." Go in either door, but there are no rain checks given or money-back. You must choose which door you will take.

There's an inner door to the Dollar entrance marked Failure. There's an inner door to the Happiness entrance marked Success. You may go in either entrance, but you must pay the price.

Diplomatic Rebuke

A little known story of the Jewish race in Portugal is told of King Joseph I. of that country. On one occasion the king ordered that all Portuguese who were in any way allied to or descended from the Hebrew race should wear yellow hats. The old Marquis de Pombal, then minister in chief, shortly afterward appeared at court with three yellow hats on his head. The king smiling, asked him: "What are you doing with these?" The marquis replied: "I have them in obedience to your majesty's command, for I really do not know a single Portuguese of ours who has not Jewish blood in his veins."

"But," insisted the king, "why three hats?" "One is for myself," answered the king. "One for the legislator general by your side, and one is, in case your majesty should desire to be covered."

Smuggled Bracelet in Photograph

Of smuggling tricks there is no end. The Bangor (Me.) customs officials had a new dodge sprung on them one day recently in an attempt to get a gold bracelet through without the payment of duty. Some one took a number of cabinet photographs, but before trying them together to make them appear as a single photo he carefully hollowed out a hole in the center and deposited the bracelet therein. A superficial examination of the package would have caused one to think that it was simply a bundle of photographs and allowed it to proceed without question.

Through the Gate or Not at All

AMERICAN FENCE

Good Fences are a farm investment that bring the most returns for the least money

ARE you losing money? If you had a hole in your pocket, out of which you were losing hard-earned dollars, would you sew it up? The time has arrived when a fence around the farm is as much a necessity as a cultivator. If you are feeding pigs for 20c to 30c a day, allowing good, green feed to go to waste on other portions of your farm, you have a hole in your pocket, out of which you are losing good, hard-earned dollars. Sew it up. Load up an American Fence dealer and let him show you how a few dollars invested in fence will yield a big big net return on your fence. American Fence is made of hard, stiff steel. It is made of a quality of wire drawn especially for maximum fence purposes. Galvanized by latest improved process—the best that the skill and experience of years has taught. Built on the elastic, hinged-joint (patented) principle, which effectively protects the stay or upright wires from breaking under hard usage. The real test of a fence is the service you get out of it. Test, judge and compare American Fence under any and all conditions, and you will find that the steel, the structure and the galvanizing are equal in durability, strength and efficiency to the hardest usage.
