

Aim to make ordinary different

MONTE NAGLER

Want some ideas for different kinds of photographs? Here are some that will grab the viewer's attention and make him or her say, "What is this and how did you do it?"

All it takes is to make the ordinary different. For example, everyone likes to photograph flowers, especially at this time of year. But let's make the ordinary different. A trip to your local glass shop is all it takes.

A piece of textured shower door glass placed between the flowers and your camera will produce stunning effects similar to an impressionistic painting. Textured glass is available in many styles (even colors) so the possibilities are endless. Use your imagination to shoot other subjects through textured glass.

Another way to make the ordinary different is to use a super wide angle lens 20mm or less. The distortion you'll get by making it close to your subject will amaze you. Move in close to a friend or to your family pet. Try sighting straight up a tree. The resulting distortion will produce dramatic and unusual results.

We're all so accustomed to photographing people so that we can see their faces. How about shooting them from their backs or doing a photo theme of hands or feet? This would certainly make the ordinary different.

While we're talking about people pictures, consider placing someone in an unlikely setting. For example, shoot an elegantly dressed model in a junkyard or a friend in a tuxedo on a farm. These photographs will definitely get attention.

Try taking a common prop such as a red rose and place it somewhere in the composition of a series of pictures. This "common denominator" will tie a set of photos together and will earn you accolades from family and friends.

I decided to make a photograph, shown here, of the recent eclipse of the sun different from the ordinary. By stacking three neutral density filters on my 400mm lens and adding a "star" filter, I anticipated light scattering that produced the concentric rings of the sun's core along with the large bands of light. This extraordinary photograph of a rare stellar event rewarded me with a truly unusual shot.

Monte Nagler's popular basic photography class begins Tuesday, June 14, at The Community House in Birmingham. Don't miss out on this opportunity to sharpen up on your photography skills for the summer. Phone The Community House at (810) 644-5832 for registration information.

Out of the ordinary: By using a combination of filters, Monte Nagler was able to produce this unusual photograph of the recent eclipse of the sun.
