Fox to football fans: Start salivating!

BY JEFF PLASS

Now that football mavens have had their appetites whetted with a few NFL preseason games, Fox rings the proverbial Pavlovian dinner bell with two one-hour NFL specials, airing this week.

"NFL All-Access," on Monday, Aug. 29, takes a behind-the-scenes look at the training camps of the Arizona Cardinals, the Minnesota Vikings and the two-time defending Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys.

Host John Madden takes viewers through scrimmages, practices, meetings, meals, bed checks and even a couple of musical revues. Rookie players serenade the veterans in a custom as old as the league itself.

"NFL Preview" on Saturday, Sept. 3, explores some of the biggest questions facing the league on the eve of the regular season. Questions like: How will Barry Switzer fare in his new job as head coach of the Dallas Cowboys? Which teams benefited the most from free agency? How will rule changes designed to add offense actually affect the game?

Gere plays street police officer Dennis Peck, a smooth, savvy manipulator. Garcia portrays persistent Internal Affairs Detective Raymond Avila.

Raymond becomes convinced that Dennis is involved in criminal activities and begins an investigation that makes the two men bitter adversaries.

Laurie Metcalf ("Roseanne") stars as Raymond's partner, Amy Wallace.
