

2 new stores set to open at Laurel Park

Northern Reflections, a clothing retailer, has opened a new store in Laurel Park Place mall, Six Mile at Newburgh in Livonia.

The store carries a full line of Northern Reflections weekend wear for men and women from jeans and button-down shirts to cotton essentials.

"There is a lifetime guarantee on everything we sell," said store manager Kelly Gutowski.

The interior of the store reflects the relaxed feeling of the clothing it sells. Its interior is reminiscent of a cottage complete with picnic tables.

Northern Reflections is near the new expansion area of Laurel Park Place next to Winkelman's. Other new stores coming to Laurel Park Place include McDewitt's Hallmark, New Peeking Restaurant, Successories, and Talbots Kids.

Disney-land

The Disney Store has opened its third largest store in Michigan at Laurel Park Place mall in Livonia.

The 5,800-square-foot store offers a wide selection of Disney character merchandise including clothing, jewelry, toys and books in a setting that is fun for the whole family.

Disney theme park tickets can be purchased at the store as well. Disney Dollars and Disney store gift certificates also are available.

The interior of the store combines music, video and animated displays to bring Disney magic to the mall at Six Mile and Newburgh.

There are more than 300 Disney stores throughout the world, including Canada, Europe and Japan. The store manager is Cheri Olaszewski.

EPA crackdowns hit area businesses

U.S. Environmental Protection Agency Region 5 has taken a series of legal actions against 12 Michigan companies, including a Livonia gasoline station, since new chlorofluorocarbon (CFC) regulations became effective for the auto repair industry.

Several local agencies also cooperated in the enforcement effort by inspecting automotive garages, dealerships, and auto-parts stores.

The Livonia gasoline station cited is Bell Creek Amoco for no training, a $16,000 fine.

The refrigerant regulations, imposed under the Clean Air Act, became effective Aug. 12, 1992. Refrigerants containing CFCs destroy the upper ozone layer that protects the earth from harmful ultraviolet rays.

The rules require that refrigerant be recycled when servicing or repairing auto air conditioners. Auto technicians must have certification that they have been trained to properly handle refrigerants.

The rules also ban the sale of small cans of automotive refrigerant to anyone other than certified auto technicians. They are intended to prevent both auto repair facilities and untrained do-it-yourselfers from releasing from.

"Overall, we are pleased with the results of our investigations," said David Kee, regional director of the Air and Radiation Division. "Many companies are following the rules, but a few either were unaware or didn't believe they would be caught. These actions show that EPA is serious about enforcing the CFC rules."

Representatives from the companies may request meetings with EPA to discuss the allegations.

The act allows EPA to impose administrative penalties of up to $25,000 a day for each violation. Local agencies will continue to help EPA investigate complaints and inspect automotive facilities. For more information or to report suspected CFC violations, call EPA's Stratospheric Ozone Hotline, 800-296-1996.

EPA has predicted that over the next 50 years an additional 200,000 skin cancer deaths and 11 million skin cancer cases will result from the depletion of the ozone layer.
