Hills' Wolf appointed

Donn Wolf, Oakland County Commissioner, R-Farmington-Farmington Hills, has been appointed Chair of the Energy Subcommittee of the National Association of Counties (NACo).

The committee is responsible for the establishment and implementation of energy policies as they relate to local, state and federal energy production, distribution and consumption. The policies form the basis for NACo's legislative action.

In making the appointment, NACo president Randy Franke spoke highly of Wolf's qualifications and active participation in the association and local government.

"Commissioner Wolf has the background and experience in energy matters that we need at NACo," Franke said. "As a member of the committee for the past five years, he has been a driving force in setting our energy goals and in the implementation of our policies. And as a former Mayor and current County Commissioner, he certainly knows local government, what it needs and how it works effectively."

In addition, Wolf was re-elected to the NACo Board of Directors. As a director, Wolf automatically sits on the Board's Resolutions Committee which has jurisdiction over all NACo policies and resolutions.

Wolf was appointed to the NACo finance and bi-laws committees.

Upon his election and appointments to the national offices, Wolf said, "I am honored to have the opportunity of taking an active leadership role in such a prestigious organization. I will do all I can to further its goals and to strengthen county and local government in Michigan and throughout the country."

NACo was founded in 1935. Its membership consists of 30,000 elected and appointed officials, representing over 1,700 counties nationwide.
