Did you know?
this about Livonia?

Established in 1824 by Governor Lewis Cass, Livonia Township began as part of Bucklin Township, an area comprised of four full townships. Bucklin Township was split into two townships in 1829—Nankin on the west and Pekin on the east. These names were chosen to avoid breaking a Michigan law that stated no new townships could be named after existing post offices. The early founders felt that they would be safe with these names, which were inspired by the missionary activity going on in Nankin and Pekin, China at that time. Five years later, in 1834, settlers living on the north of what is now Joy Road, petitioned for a government of their own and on March 17, 1835, Livonia Township with its current boundaries was established by an act of the Territorial Legislature.
