Big Boy owner treats the community at opening parties

Farmington Big Boy had a three-day extrawaganza last weak to help get closer to the community, asid owner George Darany who began operating the restaurant in January.

"I knew the store lost touch with the community," Darany said. "I thought it was important to put it together."

or successful the event will be annual. On Tuesday, Oct. 11, the Farmington Road restaurant hald a senior appreciation breakfast from 8 am to 10:30 am. Senior citizens were offered a free minherakfast of their choice, which was accompanied by coffee, tea or a small juice. A violinist serenaded the tables.

"We fed 300 local seniors," Darany said.

The Calabrity Server Night was given Wednesday, Oct. 12. It ben-efitted the Farmington Families in Action elementary school substance abuse educational program. Darany donated 10 percent of the sales to the cause, which brought the total raised to $1,000.

"It should be a lot bigger next year," Darany added.

Kids were treated on Thursday, Oct. 13. Children ate dinner free and were treated to a petting 200, pony rides and a clown peinting faces. "That night was the higgest family night wo've ever had," Darany said. "In shear numbers it was the most popular. Big Boy International will use the Farm-ington Family Night as their model."

Coming right up: Farmington Police Chief Bill Dwyer serves a Big Boy combo to 10-year-old Freddie Gaines.

Caffee, toa, or . . .: Farmington Hills' naturalist relaxes while Farmington Hills City Council member Aldo Vagnozzi serves him a coke.
