

U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

11TH DISTRICT

Nike Breeshgold

Democrat, 41, Farmington Hills, MI, Eastern Michigan University, Sales Manager.

I believe we must restore tax fairness to the middle class. I also believe we need to change government programs to keep updated on changing economic trends.

Joseph K. Krollenberg

Republican, 60, Bloomfield Hills, MI, Eastern Illinois University, U.S. Army, married, two sons, served as Chairman for Republican Committee of Oakland County, 18th District Republican Committee, Congressman.

People are tired of politicians with stale, out-of-touch ideas. I believe my first term in Congress, and that which I hope to carry on, is best characterized by three simple words: security, opportunity and prosperity. Whether you're talking about crime control, welfare and healthcare reform, a balanced budget amendment or other cost control measures, those words (security, opportunity, prosperity) were not only my guiding principles, but more importantly my active practices.

We measure the quality of our lives by how much control we have over our own life. The Congress and the President have been moving us in the wrong direction, toward more government control concerning taxes, spending, health care, welfare, education, crime and other issues. We have to change direction.

Eric Anderson

Natural Law Party, 44, East Grand Rapids, MI, Political Science, U of M, Masters degree, Development of Human Potential, Executive for International Telecommunications Group, many years experience with educational and rehabilitation programs.

The Natural Law Party promotes scientifically validated cost-effective solutions to our nation's problems. One key program I endorse is the Transcendental Meditation program. A large body of scientific research indicates that with this one program we can prevent disease and cut healthcare costs in half, and reduce crime and violence dramatically. I support a "group for a government"—10,000 experts in Transcendental Meditation to create an influence of coherence in our nation's capital.

Jerome White

Workers League, 35, Southfield, MI, have been a member of Workers League for 16 years, fighting for the political education and mobilization of the working class.

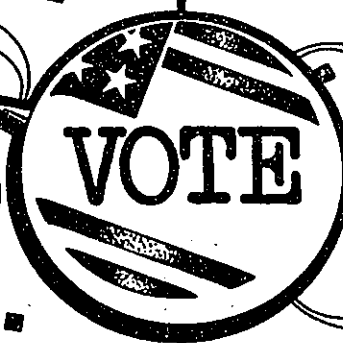

The provision of secure decent paying jobs, healthcare, education and housing for all requires radical reorganization of society's priorities and economic life. I propose establishment of a progressive taxation system; lowering taxes on working middle class families while increasing them on wealthy. All incomes over $150,000 should be taxed 100%. Fight for labor party based on socialist policies to place society's productive wealth under public ownership to produce for human need, not profit.
