SECOND THOUGHTS

About 40 percent of the brides and grooms who take their marital vows today are entering a second marriage. If you should come to the realization that you may be the second time that money-related problems and child-related issues emerge between areas of contention. These partners are not only likely to have children from previous marriages, but they also have accumulated assets and such added expenses as attorney's fees and child support. When all these factors contributing to the potential for conflict over finances, issues arise to sort out each partner's financial responsibilities to the other in a legally binding prenuptial agreement. The one may not seem romantic at first, but it may preserve a loving relationship in the long run.

Almost all relationships including marriages can be the victim of financial disputes. The should be able to talk honestly and openly about marital affairs, without losing self-control. Here at DOUGLAS E. KUTLER, P.C., we concentrate in the area of personal injury law, but can help you with any legal problem that you may have. We are experienced in: accidental injuries, negligence, products, wills, probate, real estate contracts, and more. For more information or an appointment, please call us at 812-471-1111. We are conveniently located at 22500 Orchard Lake Road, Farmington. Hours are by appointment.

NOTE: In light of the fact that 40 percent of second marriages end in divorce, a prenuptial agreement seems to be a particularly wise idea for those who go to the altar a second time.
