

Singing in the gym: Martha Reeves sings "Dancing in the Street" with the Mercyairees at a recent Mercy High School auction celebrating the 50th anniversary of the school.

Mercy High School auction takes trip on memory lane

Poodle skirts and blue jeans, doo-wop and Motown all returned to Mercy High School in Farmington Hills recently for the school's 50th anniversary.

Co-chair couples Linda and Roger Emery of Farmington Hills, Nancy and Phil LaDuke of Farmington Hills and Cheryl and Greg Spinazze of Northville worked throughout the past year on the annual auction. They were aided by honorary alum co-chairs: Mary Margaret Scanlan Bozco, class of 1957 and resident of Orchard Lake; Carol Bingham McNish, class of 1960 and a Farmington Hills resident; and Amelia Sosnowski Inman, class of 1965 and a Grosse Pointe resident.

Honorary chairperson, Martha Reeves, of Martha and the Vandellas, came to the auction Saturday evening, Feb. 25, and joined in singing "Dancing in the Street" with the Mercyairees to more than 300 guests. She also offered a "Night on the Town" with her as an auction bid item and prior to the auction had done a photo shoot at the Motown Museum Store with about 25 students.

Friday evening, Feb. 24, was the casual night, attended by more than 450 people, some dressed in the style of the '60s and '70s. The crowd bid on such items as golf outings, college sweatshirts, sports memorabilia and tickets, dinners, artwork and jewelry. "Elvis" returned in the person of Rick Valentino.
