LOOKING BACK . . .

Did You Know?

In 1909, Woodward Ave (Old Saginaw Trail) between 6 and 7 Mile Roads were paved with concrete, marking the first such treatment of a rural road in the United States!

Max Broock, founder of Max Broock, Inc. attended the first meeting of the National Association of Real Estate Boards (now NAR) in 1909, instilling the principles that guide the real estate profession.
