Fantasy car raffle caps off festival

If the promise of spring conjures up images of baseball, hot dogs, apple pie and a 1995 Corvette, you're in luck.

Or you could be, as the Farmington Hills Chamber of Commerce prepares once again to make a dream come true for someone at the 1995 Corvette Fantasy Car Raffle Extravagnaz July 15, the final highlight to the 31st Annual Founders Day Festival, July 13-15.

The dream car or a $30,000 cash purse, as well as $3,000 in other prizes, will be raffled off for the ninth year as the festival concludes at the Extravagnaza party in downtown Farmington.

Tickets are $100 and only 1,000 will be available, which makes the chances great for walking, or driv-

ON THE ROAD WITH ARTHRITIS

If you have arthritis, concern over a flare of your ondition may keep you from a trip in springtime to eorgia or to dectine a family reunion in Artizona. You can take measures to decrease the risk that the arthritis will react when you ing, away a winner.

Included in the price of the tickets, which may be purchased by one or several parties, is admission for two to the Extrava-mission for two to the Extravaganta.

This the second year that the chamber will host the party as a means of promoting the raffle festivities, and according to chamber President Jody Soronen, the party is becoming a tradition.

According to Soronen, the idea of incorporating the raffle, while is the primary source of funding for the festival, into a party at mosphere was born out of a desire to make the raffle a real "community-linked event."

"We wanted to build something that would become a tradition to be looked forward to each year, like the festival itself," Soronen said. "What better way to bring it all together than by celebrating with a big party?"

Joe Yaros, winner of the grand prize last year, attested to the high splitts held by the ticketholders. "I was having such a great time, I didn't even realiss I wen. My wife kicked me and said they called your name. I was pretty auprised because I'm one of those guys who never wins anything."

The Ertraveganza will begin at 7 p.m. and winners will be drawn about 11 p.m. However, ticket holders need not be present to win. Adult partygoers will enjoy entertainment by Bobby Lewis and the Cracker Jack Band, and food and drink concessions will be available.

Raffle tickets are available until July 16 at the chamber office, 3000 Thomas Street, Suite 101, as well as other locations. For more information, call the chamber at 474-3440.

In their answers, one couldn't find much disagreement. Enberg had the upper fand on knowledge of the district, though, having served on several district and school committees.

The several district and school committees are the several district and school committees.

The thing the several district and school lives in Farmington, the southern area of the district, "and the perspective of having children comen through the system. I think that's a key."

That would have seemingly left. Levin to establish herself as a time-for-a-change candidate. She didn't.

Levin cited the need to improve test scores, but otherwise she was as complimentary as a dinner guest.

Her theme was maintaining what's already there. She lives in the Middlebott-14 Mille road area, in northern part of the district.

"I have no axes to grind and I have an open mind," said Levin, 25, who had five family members

Enberg has a bachelor's of science in nursing from the University of Kanass and masters in business from the University of Kanass and masters in business from the University of their family has lived in the Farmington area for 11 years.

Levin has a bachelor's degree in accounting from Michigan State University and a law degree from Detroit College of Law. She works in the legal department for City Management Corp.

Enberg reeled off numerous committees ahe's served on, including Mission 2007 and schools of choice. Those proved helpful when it came to answering questions as to the district's future.

"I'm eager to improve," Enberg sald. "I'm not eager to change."

She wasn't eager to criticite, el-ther.

Levin said she — like a majori.

She wasn't eager to criticits, either.
Levin said she — like a majority of Farmington area residents and taxpayers — doesn't have children in the schools. She could bring that perspective to the board.
