

Botsford offers free cancer screening during May

One in eight men might be able to identify the second baseman on the Detroit Tigers 1968 team. One in eight men might be able to give you Sparky Anderson's given name (it's George). Some statistics have more certainty than others.

will be diagnosed with prostate cancer sometime in his lifetime. That's why Health Development Network at Botsford General Hospital is conducting the fifth annual Prostate Health Awareness program in May.

This prostate education and screening program is a free, comprehensive approach aimed at giving men the information they need to understand prostate cancer and prostate disease.

It includes a free presentation by board certified urologist Dr. Steven Roth, D.O., on the risk factors, signs and symptoms, diagnostic techniques and treatment options and an opportunity to ask questions. Following the lecture, men over age 40 can schedule free digital rectal exams and prostate specific antigen (PSA) blood tests the following week.

More than 2,000 men have participated in the screening and education offered by the program the past four years. Abnormal prostate tests have been discovered in about 25 percent of participants.

Presentations on prostate cancer and disease are scheduled 10 a.m. to noon Monday, May 15, at the Botsford Inn, 25000 Grand River Ave., and 7-9 p.m. Wednesday, May 17, in Botsford Hospital's community room. Attending one of the lectures is mandatory for men interested in receiving a free screening, which will be conducted on noon to 6:30 p.m. Monday, May 22, and Wednesday, May 24, at Health Development Network in Novi.

Advance registration is required. To register or for more information, call Botsford's Health Development Network at (810) 477-6100.
