Other Falcons to place were Phil Giovannini, with a third place in the 800, Keith Sudheimer, with sixth place in the high jump, and the fourth-place 400 relay team.

North Farmington finished with 26 points and in ninth place. The lone state qualifier was junior Brian Rajdl, who won the 1,600 run with a career-best time of 4:36.

"He's not a guy who likes to race hard to win down the stretch, so he went out strong," North coach Todd Schultz said. "He led from start to finish and led by as

With seven minutes to play, Lord scored her second against Digitalmo, who stopped the ball in front but lost the handle as it fell behind her.

"I knew Ali would get loose a few times," North coach Tim Ernst said. "You're not going to shut her down the entire game. I thought if we kept her going, we would give ourselves a chance."

"That's the way we've played all year. Even in games when we were down by a lot, the girls never gave up, and that's the thing about them I'm most proud of."

Lord, who ended her senior year with 34 goals, got one more shot with six minutes remaining, but it hit the left post and bounced away.

"If she falls down there, because she got hit in the back of the leg, it's a penalty kick," Ernst said. "She kept some of her balance and still tried to get the shot off."

Mercy led 1-0 at halftime following a goal by Jena Kluska. North carried the play most of the half and Lord had a handful of shots, but the Marlins managed to keep her and the Raiders scoreless.

"I think the credit goes to Lauren; she played (Lord) tough," Shlvrman said. "It wasn't dirty, just smart defense. But every time (Hendrickson) was going for the ball, before the play was finished, the referee made a call."

"The ref should be part of the game, not be the game. That's the beauty of the game -- let a good defensive player like Lauren go one-on-one with a great offensive player like Ali Lord."

Mercy appeared to have the victory wrapped up when Colleen and Erin Soloson scored goals 24 minutes apart in the second half. Colleen lifted a shot inside the box that North goalie Mike Ziegler tipped but couldn't catch before it fell under the crossbar at 33:53. Erin took a pass from Kluska and slid the ball past an on-rushing Ziegler.

On Tuesday, Digitalmo was in goal the whole game for Mercy, and Emily Lawrence scored the game-winner as the Marlins won the shootout 4-3.

Hendrickson countered a goal by Lauren's Stephanie Hurnburt in regulation play. Kluska, Lynn Dreniak and Erin Soloson also scored in the shootout.

hurdles (44.4) and 400 dash (54.8), respectively.

Farmington won the 1,600 relay with the team of Scario, Ian Gray, Phil Giovannini and Ethan Smith and a time of 3:42.2.

"It was close until the 200, and they went 1-2-3 and kind of shut the door on us," coach Chip Bridges said.

"We lost the first three relays, and a couple could have been closer. We had the firepower to beat them, but we couldn't do it today."

Farmington also had seconds from Andy Morgan, pole vault (10-0), Scario, 110 hurdles (17.2); Giovannini, 1,600 (4:57.4); Ryan Hassell, 400 (55.9); Brian Washnack, discus (117-2); Smith, 800 (2:10.3); and Mike Langton, 3,200 (11:10).

"We had a rough season, but they stuck in there and played their hearts out."

On Monday, North advanced with a 5-1 victory over host Farmington Hills Harrison as Lord scored four goals and had one assist. Amanda Markus had the other goal and an assist.

CHURCHILL 4, FARMINGTON 1: The host Falcons had two goals called back Wednesday during a district semifinal loss to Livonia Churchill.

"It was a defensive struggle with a couple breakaways by Churchill that resulted in goals," Farmington coach Bob Noff said, adding the Falcons "felt we should have had two others."

Tiffany Okunoye had a first-half goal nullified when the referee ruled the ball went off her shoulder (handball). In the second half, a Farmington shot hit the upper post, bounced to the ground and ricocheted off the crossbar again without going in the net.

Okunoye scored with an assist from Angi Newman off a Jamie Pawloski corner kick to make the score 3-1. Churchill led 2-0 at halftime.

The Falcons finished with a 6-7-2 record. "We improved our overall record, so we feel we had a better season than last year," Noff said.

"We began a rebuilding program a year ago, and there has been steady improvement. We wish it was better, but it's gratifying how much we've improved."

Farmington will graduate five seniors: Jessica Guilford, Eden Kenney, Karl Lowry, Kristy Mahon and Paulinski.

The Falcons won their first district game Monday, 3-0 over host Livonia Franklin.

nen took the loss. Jodie Barringer had three hits, including a solo homer and a double, and three RBI. She also had two stolen bases and scored two runs.

Jenny Myallinski added two hits, two RBI and two runs scored. Kathy Schneider clipped in two hits. Dina Ann and Heikkinen had the only hits for Farmington (13-9).

NORTHWEST 24, CYRUS 8: Eight errors led to Livonia Cianciovilla's stunning Monday against visiting Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest.

SOFTBALL

scored the game-winning run on wild pitch Monday as North nipped Livonia Churchill, 8-7.

Devereux led the winners with three hits and three RBI. Spitz was the winning pitcher.

Allison Hoye led Churchill (13-10) with two hits and four RBI. Jenny Clulow scored three runs. Alicia Devereux, the losing pitcher, was the victim of six errors.

HARRISON 11, FARMINGTON 6: Kristen Davis remained unbeaten (6-0) as the Raiders won when the Hawks (21-2) merced visiting Farmington in five innings.

The Raiders tossed a two-hitter, struck out two and walked two. Alana Heikkinen took the loss.

Raiders rout Warriors, edge Chargers

Mickey Spitz pitched a four-hit victory and helped her cause with the bat Tuesday as North Farmington merced host Walled Lake Western 17-3 in five innings.

Spitz, who struck out four and walked one, and Lynn Zelasko had two hits each, two RBIs and two runs scored.

Kelly Brannack collected three RBI with a bases-loaded single and a groundout.

Jamie Miller knocked in a run and scored two, and Heather Overstreet got her first varsity hit and scored a run.

The Raiders (10-13) increased a 3-1 lead after two innings with six, three and six runs in the next three innings.

WARREN 11, FARMINGTON 6

Kristen Davis remained unbeaten (6-0) as the Raiders won when the Hawks (21-2) merced visiting Farmington in five innings.

The Raiders tossed a two-hitter, struck out two and walked two. Alana Heikkinen took the loss.

Jodie Barringer had three hits, including a solo homer and a double, and three RBI. She also had two stolen bases and scored two runs.

Jenny Myallinski added two hits, two RBI and two runs scored. Kathy Schneider clipped in two hits. Dina Ann and Heikkinen had the only hits for Farmington (13-9).

NORTHWEST 24, CYRUS 8: Eight errors led to Livonia Cianciovilla's stunning Monday against visiting Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest.

Northwest scored 11 times in the first inning and finished off the Trojans with six runs in the fifth (mercy rule).

Wendy Roy, the losing pitcher, went 2-for-3 with a double and two RBI. Nicole Riedl added two hits, including a triple. Riedl scored two runs and knocked in a run.

The loss drops Cianciovilla to 2-11 overall and 2-8 in the Metro Conference.
