Dinner to honor 50-year donors to Jewish causes

A 50-year legacy of giving to the Jewish Federation of Metropolitan Detroit Allied Jewish Campaign will be honored at the First Legacy Dinner of the Quarter Century Club June 27 at Adat Shalom Synagogue in Farmington Hills.

The Quarter Century Club was created to honor of those who have given consistently to the Allied Jewish Campaign for 25 years or more. More than 400 of the 2,500 members of the Quarter Century Club are 50-year donors to the campaign.

Members of the club are encouraged to bring their families and friends to the dinner that will feature a video of rare archival footage that remembers the people and places of the old Detroit Jewish community.

The dinner is made possible through the support of the United Jewish Foundation and NBD Bank. Herbert Kaufman of West Bloomfield and Jessie Stern of Franklin are chairmen of the club. Children and grandchildren age 13 and over will be welcome to join the festivities for a fee. Reservations are required. There is a $35 charge per person for the dinner and reception.

For details on the Quarter Century Club or the dinner, call Helen Atkinson at the Jewish Foundation, 642-4260.

Church celebrates with a family outing

Families from throughout metropolitan Detroit are invited to participate in four days of Celebrating Families at Detroit First Church of the Nazarene.

Celebrating Families will take place 7-9 p.m. June 26-29 at Detroit First Church of the Nazarene at 21200 Haggerty north of Eight Mile in Farmington Hills.

The theme was chosen because the church's annual summer gathering for kids has been given a new emphasis for 1995 — parents and children interacting in fun, learning and activity.

"Celebrating Families is a Disney World-type event where children and their parents come together," said director Judy Street, First Church children's minister.

"Just like Disney World, parents will be in charge of their own children and will spend the entire time with their children," Street said.

"The philosophy behind Celebrating Families is that too many times we have children and parents doing things separately. So this year we want to give families the chance to be together and to offer a great time for mom and dad to interact not only with their own kids but with other moms and dads in the community."

'Just like Disney World, parents will be in charge of their own children and will spend the entire time with their children.'

Judy Street

The first hour from 7-8 p.m. will feature the Boone Family from Cobourg, Ontario with puppets, drama, objection lessons and personal stories.

The second hour from 8-9 p.m. will include parents and children in outdoor activity, crafts, games and refreshments.

A free nursery is provided for children through age two. Three-year-olds will have their own class after the Boone family entertainment with their puppets. Children ages 4 to 12 will be joining their parents for the outdoor activities.

Visitors are welcome, even kids without parents or whose parents can't attend.

There is no admission charge and all activities, entertainment and refreshments are free.

University honors area resident

Dr. Jeffrey Luftig, a Farmington Hills resident and president of Luftig and Associates Inc., was honored by Bowling Green State University as one of 25 accomplished graduates of the College of Technology during commencement ceremonies May 6.

Luftig received his master's degree in career and technology education from Bowling Green in 1972.

His firm specializes in the development and delivery of training and consulting services in the quality sciences to business and industry.

Luftig is also the co-owner of Weldaloy Manufacturing Company, which has plants in Warren and Clare.

Prior to founding Luftig and Associates in 1985, he was on the faculty at Eastern Michigan University where he served two years as the associate dean of the College of Technology. He also taught at the University of Northern Iowa, Keene State College in New Hampshire, State University of New York College at Oswego and Bowling Green.

Luftig has authored three books and written 12 journal articles and eight magazine articles for various industrial arts education publications.

Accomplished graduates are chosen on the basis of success in their professions and contributions to their communities. They are considered to be representative of the university's many alumni who have been successful in their chosen fields.
