Market skustion: Fewer listings and quicker sales are the order of the day.

Fewer houses means sales are brisk

The number of houses available for sale are down, but the actual sales sale are down, but the actual sales are up.

That means buyers have to act quicker to find the houses of their dreams. Sollers should come very close to getting their asking prices or maybe even a premium. And agents have to acramble more to obtain listings and commission dollers.
"It's been many years since I've experienced the low-inventury market we've experienced in 1995," said Judy Walker, broker/owner of Red Carpet Keim Walker & Associates in Southfield.

As of June 1, 10,144 houses and con-dominiums were available for sale in the RealComp II multi listing service including Western Wayne/Oakland County, Birmingham-Bloomfield, Rochester, South Oakland, North Oakland, Detroit, Dearborn and Liv-ingston really boards.

That's a decruses of nearly 20 per-cent from the 12,855 units that were available for sale dune 1, 1994.

Sales through the first five months of this year rose 3 percent _ 11,892 compared to 11,246.

"When a home causes on the market, well-priced, well-cared for and main-tained, it's on the market a short time," and Bavid A. Busch, broker owner of Snyder, Kinney, Bennett and Keating Realtors in Birmingham. "Sollers are getting not only what they want, but over what they want, said Nancy Austin, a Realtor with the Michigan Group in Livonia. "I just listed a house for $112,500.

"Houses solling like that are in great shape, have a lot of updating, are well taken care of and in desirable neighborhoods," she added.
Buyers can't procrastinate over purcharing decisions or take their time personally researching properties in a seller's market.
The days of messying through open houses, mulling it over for a few weeks, visiting again, then making an offer probably will result in disappointment.

someone who has it on the computer on a daily bezin, Busch said.

"They have to make themselves available to preview houses and be prepared so if they like a house, they can be attuned to preceding to purchaso," he said.

"Buyers don't have the luxury of time, not today," Austin said. 'Houses aren't sitting out there 30 to 60 days. In some cases, not three days.

"If they're serious, and they need to listen to this _ agents will run updates every day in the morning. Buyers have got to jump and run."

Purchasers today can help themselves by getting pre-qualified and pre-approved for mortgages, Austin said. They may also want to sell their existing houses while looking for a new one.
