Lawn-watering ban still in effect through August

Detroit Water and Sewerage epartment officials announced

Department officials announced last week that the mandators odd/even outdoor watering restriction for 123 communities, including all Econtric areas, will remain in effect until Aug. 31. Individuals with addresses ending in odd numbers abould water outdoors only on days with odd numbers. Individuals having addresses ending in even numbers, should water outside only on even days.

Continued hot weather and below-average rainfall prompted the decision, which was made in order to swold future water distribution problems, according to a DWSD prore release.

The odd/swen watering restribution bes worked out well since it was put into effect June 19, said DWSD deputy director Kathleen Lervy. Wholesale emitomers of DWSD water subad that the restrictions remain in places as a preventive measure, DWSD said.
