Farmington Observer

VOLUME 107 NUMBER 13

SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS

way

BY BILL COUTANT

nozzi scored better with voters who have selected him as Farmington Hills' first directly elected may-

MAIF WRITER
Addo Vagnozzi, the son of Italian immigrants, will be the first directly elected mayor of Farzington Hills.
The popular city councilman easily defeated a well-healed attorney in what many called a divisive campaign. Vagnozzi, 70, was outspent by Paul Sowerby 4-1, but won the vote, 3-2.

Paul Sowerhy 4-1, but won one con-3-2.
"I thought I was going to win, just from the reaction I was getting door-to-door and then today, when I went to 10 precincts," Vagnozzi said. "I think it proved that Parmington Hills voters were interested in local issues; not issues that had nothing to do with eite government."

voters were interested in local issues; not issues that had nothing to do with city government."

Vagnoral had taken Sowerby to task for soliciting support of politicisms, judges and others who do not total in Farmington Hills. Soverby had also used his standa on abortion, sett of the campaign.

Sowerby the Redison Hotel, across Sowerby the Redison Hotel, across the Desire of the campaign.

Sowerby the Redison Hotel, across the World with right up to the cut with the World with right up to the end.

"I thought two did win," he said. "I thought we ran a first class campaign."

MAYOR Vrinner receives two year term and is	noted with a check mark.
Park Sawester	5,447
✓ Aldo Vagnozti	8,633
FARMINGTON HILLS CITY COUR	CIL
Top three vote getters receive four y	ear term
✓ Vicid Barnett	8,440
✓ Nancy Bates	8,202
Dennis Fitzgeraid	6,182
Ban Marks	6,429
✓ Terry Sever	8,041
PROPOSALS
A 1-mill tax increase to upgrade police	and fire
≥ Yes	9,261
No	4,931
Have council vacancies filled at the next	August primary or November general election rather next odd year general election	tium at the
er You	11,607
No	1,955
FARMINGTON CITY COURCE
Top two vote getters receive four-year to	erms; third
place finisher gets two-year ter	m 523
✓ BIII Hartsock
✓ Jo Anne McShane Ismes Mitchell	631 464

Curlous feds: U.S. Secret Service agents are investigating a stolen credit card case in Farmington.

OF INION

Mayoral mission: We share our views on the first-ever Farmington Hills mayor race. /10A

SPORTS

And still champs: Arercy frigh School breezed to its 29th Catholic League title in girls swimming. /1C

A fine finish: Farmington's girls cross country team proved its among the best in the state, finish-ing fifth in Class A. /1C

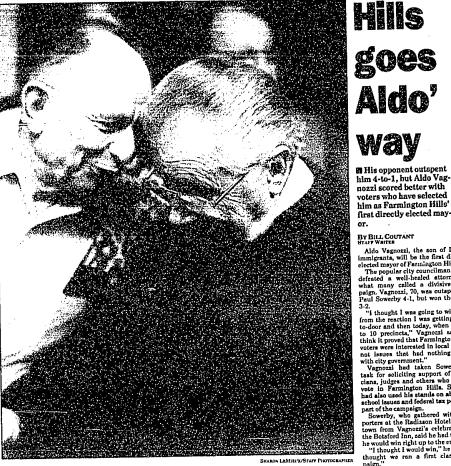

AT HOME

Room to view: Area designers gave colorful expressions in room vignettes they created at Michigan Design Center. /D

	INDEX
A&E	Real estate

HERE'S HOW TO REACH US

	110-477-5450
Newsroom Fax: (810-477 -972 2
Sports: $	119-933-2141
Rescer Comment Line: 2	113-953-2042
Classified Advertising:	113-551-0609
Display Advertising:	115-591-2260
Home Delivery:
Cable/TV Weekly:

Mayor-elect: Supporter Stan Slovick congratulates Aldo Vagnozzi on his election win in Tues-day's first-ever Farmington Hills mayoral race.

Voters say big yes' to public safety tax

By JULI HOCKMAN

Farmington Hills homeowners will are a men fire deathing more full-time firefighters and a highest tax bill next year after voters on Tuesday approved a tax hike to fund the city's public safety departments.

the city's public salesy departments.

Voters passed a 10-year, 1 mill tax increase that will go into effect in July. The millage will cost the owner of a $150,000 house an additional $76.50 per year. The city's average home market value is $153,000.

home market value is $163,000.
Voting in favor of the increase were 9,261 Hills residents, while 4,931 to the same case against the instance. The proposal was supported by 65.20 percent of city residents who voted in the general election.

the general election.

A majority of absence voters in precincts 6 and 14 voted against the millage. But overall, the measure received a majority of yes votes in each precinct.

lion, which will be used to increase the number of police and fireflighters on the streets. Millage supporters or dispatch supervisor will also be ramington Hills has not increased its police and fire forces to keep up with a rapidly increasing population.

Dayer said he was pleased that other populations of the public safety militage the first time it was on the bellot. In other communities, it has taken

Police Chief Bill Dwyer said his de-partment is already preparing to hire new officers to patrol the city. By July, an additional two cars will be patrolling Farmington Hills at all times, and a third car will be added

Dwyer said he was pleased that toters passed the public safety millage the first time it was on the bellot. In other communities, it has taken more than one election for similar measures to be approved, he said.

"The community was made aware of our needs and supported those

Barnett triumphs as top vote-getter

By BILL COUTANT STATY WRITES

FAY BLIL COUTAINT
For the second straight time, a nonincumbent woman was the leading vois-getter for city council in Fermlugion Hills.
Vichi Barnett, like Councilwoman
Cheryl Oliverio in 1983, challenged incumbents and candidates with good name recognition. And like Oliverio, Barnett toppod the field.
"I felt I had done everything I could do," said Barnett, who calebrated along with Mayor-alext Aldo Vagnozzi and others at the Botaford Inn.
"I walked beginning in May and June. I was no stranger to the community and to lassues. But you always worry when there are five candidates for three scats."

It was a dramatic turnaround for Barnett, who just a year earlier had been threshed in a state Senate election by incumbent David Honigman. When Barnett had met with supporters a year earlier, the mood was pure "MacBeth," as she lost 2-1. But Tuesday njth, it was "All's Well That Ends Well."
"I was really honored to win," she said. "I think wisking (door-to-door) was key, I think this community is interested in open government.

"That's what people are looking for. They are disenchanted."
They wern't disenchanted."
They wern't disenchanted."
They wern't disenchanted with greater than the people are looking for. They are disenchanted. They wern't disenchanted with greater than the people are looking for. They are disenchanted. They wern't disenchanted with supporters the people are looking for. They are disenchanted. They wern't disenchanted with supporters a year earlier, the mood was but incumbent David Honigman. When Bernett had met with supporters a year earlier, the mood was law. "MacBeth." as abe lost 2:1. But Thestage night, it was "All's Well That Ends Woll."

"I was really honored to win," she said. "I think walking (door-to-door)
Bates said abe never took her support for granted and was happy to find said." I think walking (door-to-door)
Bates said abe never took her support for granted and was happy to find said. "I think walking (door-to-door) is his second.

Jewish community honors slain leader

Some 4,000 Detroit-area residents packed Afat.
Shalom Synagogue in Parmington Hills Monday night to attend a memorial service in honor of sinh Israell Prime Minitury Visinak Rabin.
News of the service — coordinated by the Jewish Parminton of Mistropolities Detroit, the Jewish Community Counsil and other Jewish synagouse and organisations — apread quickly among the set itinated 180,000 Jews who live in Metro Detroit.
Organizers planned the service in less than 36
iseum, asid Scuthfield resident Allan Gala, accord-ate director of the Jewish Community Council for metro Detroit. Only one city-wide Jewish event — the springtime celebration of Israel's independence — has drawn a higher stiendance, Gale said.

Still, Gale said he was not surprised by the com-munity's overwhelming response to the murder of Rabio, who was gunned down by a right-wing Jew at a raily for peace.

Some 1,500 mourners, which included Araba, Pelestinians, and other non-Jews, filled the asso-tuary at Adet Shalom, a syneague that is near for peace. Another 2,500 people watched the service

hall
Detroit Mayor Dennis Archer, U.S. Sen. Spender Abraham and U.S. Rep. Joseph Knollenberg, RBloomfield Twp, were among those who attended the premorial services.
The service included songs, prayers and speeches by area Jewich rabbis and leaders, including community leader Max M. Fisher, a personal friend of

"It's hard for me to believe that he's gone," he