able to handle teens with problems better than the adult system.

The youth could be released by age 19.

"We felt he should be tried as an adult because he had committed an adult crime," said Larry Kozma, chief of legal affairs for Oakland County. "He was in a juvenile program at Camp Oakland by day and at night he was destroying this house. That program didn't work. This defies logic."

Kozma said the defendant is a gang member and that the vandalism was in retaliation for Bruce Jackson telling the police about the vandalism on Lancaster Street.

"This is because the homeowner (Jackson) had the audacity to go to the police about a previous crime," Kozma said.

The vandalism shocked the city and drew support for the Jacksons from residents throughout the area as well as contributions of money and help. The couple had returned from a weekend in Chicago to find the damage.

The Farmington/Farmington Hills Multi-cultural Multi-racial Community Council met specially to assert its commitment to help the family and oppose racism and other groups and individuals did likewise.

Police Chief Bill Dwyer said he was not surprised at Judge Young's decision.

"We somewhat expected him to be tried as a juvenile," Dwyer said. "Normally crimes against persons, such as CBC's (criminal sexual conduct), armed robberies and assaults are treated as adult crimes."

"Since that vandalism, we haven't had any problem in the area," he said.

The Jacksons could not be reached for comment.

Post office provides mail-early incentive

The U.S. Postal Service has added an incentive for people to mail Christmas cards early.

Postal customers who present a minimum of 10 cards at the Farmington and Farmington Hills post offices through Saturday, Dec. 9, will be eligible to win a Howard Miller collectible entitled "Checking it Twice" as first prize in a random drawing.

The piece depicts Santa reviewing his list with a grandfather clock looming in the background. The clock actually functions as a timepiece. Second prize will be an antique Santa musical figurine.

The drawing will be held Sunday, Dec. 10. Customers, who do not have to be present to win, may enter once only.
