Elton and Ward are strong passers and good servers and Moug, a three-sport athlete, brings a "devastating serve" to the varsity.

The Marlins, who beat Ferndale in the regional but lost to rival Livonia Ladywood in the final last year, started the season Saturday in a tournament at Madonna University.

Farmington

The Falcons have the most varsity experience of any recent Farmington team, and that has coach Julie Ingalls also looking forward to the 1995-96 season.

Everyone is either a junior or senior, marking the first time in several years that was the case.

Eight are veteran varsity players, and Ingalis hopes the added maturity and experience translates into better results.

Fermington was 3-8 in the Western Lakes Activities Association and 14-18 overall.

The returning players are seniors Kim Washnock, Erica Gwynn, Beth Wilson, Dina Aon and Teresa Lindenmuth and juniors Angi Newman, Brittany Dixon and Amanda Porter.

All the seniors have been on the varsity since they were sophomores, and this will be the fourth year for Washnock and Wilson, who are regular all-round players as are Dixon and

BOBBIE FELDMAN, Secretary Board of Education

The 5-foot-11 Washnock will probably lead the team in blocks and hits, according to Ingalls, and has developed a strong serve, too. She had 44 blocks, 41 kills and 16 aces.

"This is the best I'vs seen Kimmy; she's at a senior level," insalls said. "I noticed that when I saw her pay basketbail. You could see she was an ethlete, and she's showing that in volleyball, too.

"She doesn't just come to practice; she comes to make. herself and the team better. I can say I've seen the same growth in others."

When she's in the back row, Porter (6-7) will be the setter. She led the team in blocks (63); she also and 26 kills and 23 aces, and 133 of her 224 serves went for points.

"She needs to focus on her setting, because that will be three rotations where she s running the offense," Ingalis said. "What she enjoys most is when she gets in the front and gets to hit, but she knows we need her to set."

Wilson (5-9) is an all-state tennis player and brings a strong serve to the volleyball court, too, Ingalls said. Wilson served 18 aces and 127 points.

"She's a lot stronger in the front row this year," Ingalls said. "We look for her to do more hitting."

Dixon is already a strong back row player, but Ingalls is counting on her to play a bigger role in the front row.

Aon (5-5) and Lindenmuth 5-6) are defensive specialists the make the Falcons solld in Aon was the leader in service points with 171 and serve recep-tions with 197. She also served 35 accs and had 62 digs. Lin-demuth was 130-of-150 pass-ing with 46 digs.

Gwynn (5-6) and Newman (5-8) will play mainly in the front

Four juniors with AAU back-grounds join the varsity: 5.9 Jenny Neale, 5.11 Emily Engel-man, 5.7 Sarah Mikel and 5.6 Karle Heist. Neale, as an all-round player, and Mikel, as the acter, will be in the starting licence. lineup.

"There's some truly good val-leyball players in the (varsity) group," ingails said. "This is the atrongest group I've had, and they're physically strong, too, They've added more condi-tioning, weight training and running. In longer games and tournaments, that should help them."

The Falcons started the season Saturday in the Harrison Invitational and have a home match tonight against Bloomfield Hills Andover.
