with the NAIA is miles down the road.

"I was scared. People told me you're getting yourself into something you don't want to be involved in at this college," said Daiek, who played basketball at St. Mary's for one semester. "Basketball is not a sport some people want; they don't want it here. After I got into it, I saw it could work.

"My fiances told me I'm not the kind of person that sits back and accepts where I'm at. After the co-cl season, I ast back and decided I went to improve this. I want to make this even bigger than it is " Daiek admits he expected and has encountered some opposition over the return of backetball, but he's backed by one important per-son.

over the return of basketbail, but he's backed by one important person.

"I felt the return of an athletic program for men and women would be very important," said Radzilowski, who was hired as president in February, 1995.

"When you come to a small college, you should also expect athletics to be a part of life.

"I'm very pleased with Kris. He's extremely dedicated and he's really thrown his heart and soul into this."

"My goal is not so much to get back to the NAIA level, but to get college basketball back," Daick said. "And the one thing we have going for us is we have the biggest supporter on campus right now and that's the president."

Respect for mentor

As for Donahue, he is currently the first-year men's basketball coach at Schoolcraft College in Livonia. He roamed the St. Mary's sideline from 1987-92 and took the Eagles to the NAIA national quarterinals in 1991.

"When they dropped the program at St. Mary's, we had a tremendous program with true student-athletes," Donahue said. "The college is a great place, and 1 know Kris; hopefully, he can make it work sgain."

Daiek has such high regard for Donahue he once entertained thoughts of changing the school name and logo in Donahue's honor.

"I kind of wanted to have a fresh start," he said. "There was only one Eagle team, I think. And I think that was Donahue's team. What he accomplished at a school of this size and the students that he had was amazing. He got Division I talent to attend a Division III school. He was the Eagles."

The present-day Eagles return to the court Saturday, Jan. 11, against William Tyndels Carlot Sullman Tate scored 12 of his team-high 20 points in the second half of the first meeting between the two teams, and was one of five St. Mary's College players to reach double figures.

Cournment. He was first at 106 pounds last year.

The Falcons had victories by pla from Sevan Schlner (103). Dean Gozowski (162) and Brian White (215). Martin Spinks (123) and heavyweight Adam Tanielian were forfeit winners.

"We're giving up too many pins," Farmington coach Al Beyar said. "We have to correct it in the practice room. We have to work on our attitude before we go out on the mat."

The Falcons are 4-3 overall, the Vikings 10-3.

Walled Lake Central wreatiers recorded six pins to defeat visiting Farmington 45-33 in the first Lakes Division dual meet for both teams Thursday.

The Vikings won eight bouts and the Falcons six, but Central and the Falcons six, but Central earned 36 points on pins alone to go with a void and minor decision.

Farmington senior Matt Michaelski gained his 99th career viscott Aubry at 112 pounds.

Raiders win swim meet

North Farmington's first dual meet in boys swimming Thursday resulted in a 116-67 victory at the expense of rival Farmington Hills

argense of Ival Farmington Hills Harrison.
The Raiders won three relays and had a double individual winner in Jason Speer, who also contributed to two relay wins.
Speer was first in the 50-yard freestyle (23.4) and the 100 (51.25).
North's Dan Gabriel won the individual medley (21.81.9), Joe Lebovic the diving with 171.35 points and Patrick Duthle the butterfly with a personal best (67.51).

butterily with a personal best (57.51). Phil Zaid, Duthie and Speer combined with Gabriel to win the medicy relay (1:45.95) and with Brian Rajdi for first place in the 400 freestyle (3:44.84).

The Raiders won the 200 free-style relay as the team of Paul Ryan, Duthie, Matt Zaid and Jay Randa posted a 1:4.6 time. "We were pleased but pretty tired at the end of the meet," North coach Pat Duthie said. "First meets are always tugh. "There were no real surprises. Things went the wsy we planned."

Harrison's Justin Barringer was a double winner in the 200 and 500 freestyle races with re-spective times of 2:01.01 and 5:31.09.

Teammates Chris Bailey and Robin Trombley had victories in the backstroke (59.21) and the breaststroke (1:06.1), respectively. It was the first dual meet for the Hawks, too.

younger brother, Jason, a fresh-man member of the Princeton team. The latter was switched to defensive end and told to add 30 pounds to his 205 weight. "I found myself watching the defense and wanting to go over and help him, but I realized I was at practice, too," Brad said. "(Jason) had a good year and learned a lot of technique. If he puts on some weight, be a going to be a pretty good player hers."

The oldest Pawlowski brother, Todd, a 1991 graduate of North, would have been a fifth-year senior at Northwestern University and part of that school's amazing '96 season.

A knee injury ended his playing career two years ago, but Todd still went to Pasadena for the Rose Bowl game Jan. 1.

"When I heard what happened to Todd, it hurt to hear that be-cause I knew how much he loved to play." Brad said. "It was freak injury. The pile rolled over on him. He was in the wrong place and couldn't do anything about it."
