The Love We Show On Valentine's Day Should Last All Year

Valentine's Day is far more than a romantic occasion and a financial blessing to the greeting card companies, the florists, and the candy stores. It is also a symbol, an annual reminder of the way we should be all year long.

The key word is "love", and there are many definitions and expressions of it that should be a part of our everyday lives. The list is endless: doing a good deed for someone, running errands, doing the shopping for a sick neighbor, visiting those in the hospital or a retirement home, reading to the blind, offering a ride to someone in need of it, bringing someone to your house of worship, and above all, helping your house of worship any way you can.

Any act of assistance can be considered one of the many facets of love, and to be reminded of that is perhaps the finest function of Valentine's Day.

They do not love that do not show their love.
— William Shakespeare

"Let us not love in word... but in deed and truth."
— 1 John 3:18
