

Mercy student wins contest

Winner of the high school poetry contest sponsored by Ridgewriters for the Farmington Arts Festival is Noelle Bartus, a Mercy High School student.

Bartus, of Farmington Hills, won for her 28 line poem, Handicraft. She receives a $20 cash prize and certificate of achievement to be presented to her by Ridgewriters director Betty Monson during the festival's awards ceremony on April 28. Ridgewriters is a group of published and aspiring writers, which meets weekly to discuss their works in progress, publishing markets and professional growth opportunities. Having met consistently for 18 years, the group handles all types of writing. For the Farmington Arts Festival April 28-May 5, the group will display short pieces of their writings to compliment the paintings exhibited by the members of the Farmington Artists Club. Ridgewriters meetings are held at the visitors center of Farmington Hills' Heritage Park at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday the first week of each month, and thereafter on each Friday from noon to 2 p.m. The park is on Farmington Road between 10 and 11 Mile roads. For more information, call (810) 851-6730.

Any docents out there?

PLASTIC SURGERY Today

by Marshall A. Shapiro, D.O., F.A.C.O.S.

THE SUM OF ITS PARTS

When someone is unhappy with his or her appearance, dissatisfaction is usually focused upon a single feature. For instance, a person might single out his or her nose as being the source of the problem. The fact is, however, that no facial feature stands alone. The plastic surgeon knows that a face must be viewed and evaluated in its entirety, in order that a feature of the face must stand in harmony. Thus, the overly large appearance of a nose can have as much to do with a recessed chin as with the nose itself. The goal of many procedures is not so much to create a perfect body part as it is to make it more harmonious with its surrounding features.

There are many safe and effective techniques that can be done on an outpatient basis and require little, if any, "down time." However, you must proceed as much care and caution in choosing the right person to perform this procedure as you would if you were having major surgery; while some procedures are relatively simple, your surgeon's level of skill and experience will definitely effect the results. To schedule a convenient consultation, call 1-888-855-0300. You'll find offices in West Bloomfield at 7001 Orchard Lake Road, Suite 120-B. I am certified by the American Osteopathic Board of Surgery and a member of the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons.

P.S. Chin augmentation can dramatically change the contours of the face.
