

How to make your home child safe

Whether you are about to bring a new baby home or already have toddlers or young children, it is important to ask yourself, "Is my home safe for small children?"

Injury is the number-one killer of children. Luckily, it also the most preventable. This childproofing checklist from the American College of Emergency Physicians, will help you provide a safe environment for your family.

- Have a first-aid kit with appropriate items handy at all times.
- Buy medicines and other household products with childproof caps. Be sure to keep these out of reach of children.
- When cooking, use back burners, and be sure to keep pot handles turned inward so little hands can't grab them.
- Put child-resistant safety latches on all cabinets and drawers containing harmful substances.
- Cover all unused electrical sockets.
- Keep syrup of ipecac (used to induce vomiting in some cases of poisoning) in the home at all times. Use only upon the advice of a poison control center.

REO opens service center

Real Estate One, headquartered in Farmington Hills, has opened its first Real Estate One Service Center in Trenton.

The service center provides customers with the added convenience of a real estate office as well as a mortgage company and title company administrator all under one roof.

The new service center, at 3253 West Road between Allen and Fort, will make the buying and selling process more convenient, faster and less expensive for customers, company officials anticipate.

"Our objective is to make the home buying transaction simpler than it has been in the past - to make the process more comfortable, quicker and less expensive," said Richard S. Eiben, Real Estate One president. "The Real Estate One Service Center is a step in that direction."

Real Estate One plans on opening service centers at each of its 27 offices in the metro area.

A special introductory offer of a free appraisal for new mortgages and a free credit report is available for all customers at the Trenton service center through May 11.

Real Estate One, which continues to be a family-owned company, was established in 1929 on Fort in Detroit.

Offices are located in all five metro Detroit counties as well as Traveras City. Real Estate One maintains affiliation with offices throughout Michigan, the U.S. and Canada.
