The Hawks were helped by having Fletcher healthy again. The relay had been off its usual pace while she battled a leg injury.

"We had enough time to get her back to 100 percent, and that really helped us," Babcock said. "We were fortunate to keep them together all year. That's the key to a successful relay that depends so much on timing."

Mark Babcock Harrison girls coach

Granger on his 400 and 800 relay teams again as a result. The Hawks still ran a season best of 43.9 and finished ninth in the former with Jason Sharpe on the anchor leg.

"It's not every day you can take Jason Granger off a relay and still run that well, so we were thrilled," Reed said.
