

H.O.R.D.E. Fest like summer camp

the fans that are looking forward to the festival.

Dan Pifer, bassist/guitarist/vocalist for God Street Wine, said playing the H.O.R.D.E. Festival is like going to summer camp.

"It's great for the musicians, too," Pifer said. "It's like summer camp for us. Insane things go on. Last year the Black Crowes' bass player was getting a lesson from Ziggy Marley's bass player because he didn't really understand how to play reggae. It's really nice, a really good vibe."

Pifer added that it's fun for him to see the bands perform. This year's line-up includes

The H.O.R.D.E. (Horizons of Rock Developing Everywhere) Festival shows at Pine Knob Sunday, July 14. On Monday, July 15, Freddy James Band takes the Fiji Mariners place.

"It is so cool to see Lenny Kravitz. He never seemed to tour around where I was, and now I finally get to see him night after night. He's just so cool with his huge dreadlocks, sunglasses and his band is all decked out like '70s Zepplin. It's so rock 'n' roll. It's great. I love it."

God Street Wine is touring in support of "Red," its debut album for Mercury Records but its fourth album overall. "Red" follows on the heels of "19.99 Romances," which was released by Geffen in 1994 but sank soon afterward due to a lack of record company support, Pifer said.

The band's latest album, Pifer said, is a much more relaxed record than "19.99 Romances."

"We made a relaxed record. It's very introspective. There's a lot of stuff about personal relationships that were going on at the time. There's anger and frustration. There's a lot of that in the record," Pifer said.

"There's a lot of fun in the album, too. I wouldn't call it a dark, depressing record. It's reflective of the space we were in. It's a very honest record."

Missed: Hard rockers Korn will host its own Internet call-in "talk show" at 7 p.m. Pacific Time Thursday, July 18 at <http://www.sony.dreammedia.com/Epix/artists/epix/artists/id-87>. Korn Internet Live will give fans a preview of new material and a direct connection to the band. During the broadcast, Korn will debut just-recorded tracks from the recent studio sessions and play more music live.

The U.S. audience will be able to call toll-free phone numbers set up in the studio to talk directly to the band members with the conversations being broadcast. It will take place from the Los Angeles studio where Korn is recording the follow up to its gold-certified, self-titled debut ... The self-titled debut album from Detroit blues artist Robert Bradley's Blackwater Surprise is due out Tuesday, Sept. 17, on RCA. ... Ben Grosse of Canton's Pearl Sound Studios has remixed "Ready To Go," the latest single from Republic, an acclaimed U.K. indie alternative/dance band signed to RCA in the United States.

The band is fronted by Nigerian-born vocalist Saffron who has performed with N-Joi and The Shamen. Grosse has also mixed music by Filter, Deborah Harry, Red Hot Chili Peppers, and the Flaming Lips.
